Threat of federal court action failed to shake Hartley W. Barclay of New York, above, editor of the trade magazine, Mill and Factory, in his defiance of a National Labor Relations Board subpoena. The board demanded material on which Barclay based an article criticizing conduct of a labor hearing against Weirton Steel Co. Barclay based his defiance on the issue of freedom of the press.

VEGETABLE WORKERS RETURN TO FIELDS

SANTA MARIA, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Vegetable field and shed workers striking for wage increases were to go back to their posts today under terms of a former contract "for a period mutually agreeable" between them and their employers. The temporary contract will be in effect, it was presumed, until negotiations are completed for a new wage scale. The present scale ranges from 35 cents an hour for field labor to as high as 75 cents for certain types of shed work. A five-cent an hour increase for field work and ten cents for shed work had been demanded.

END OF "DRY SPELL" PREDICTED HERE

"Mr. Weather Man" encouraged Orange and other Southern California counties today with hints that one of the area's longest dry "spells" in years would end soon with rain. The last rain of this year fell on May 21. According to the United States government weather forecasters, there will be increasing cloudiness tonight and Thursday with probably rain Thursday night. He added, "Seasonable temperature with little change and light, variable wind, mostly southeast to southwest in interior."

Only a few hours after the Boston Archbishop hinted that he might turn playwright, Curtis Brown, Ltd., New York literary and cinema agency, communicated with the cardinal's residence. The agent said producers, convinced that the time was ripe for religious drama presentation, had offered their staffs to aid his Eminence in the writing.

Board Flays Juvenile Committee

REQUEST FOR ADDITIONAL AID DENIED

Turning criticism upon the county probation committee for its conduct of juvenile home affairs, the county supervisors late yesterday refused to grant the committee's request for two additional employees at the juvenile home. The request was defeated, although it was favored, 3 to 2, by the board. A four-fifth vote was necessary, however, because the addition to the personnel would involve an expenditure of funds not set up in the budget. Supervisor N. E. West, who led the criticism of the home management, and Supervisor Steele Finley, opposed the request. Chairman Willard Smith, and Supervisors Harry D. Riley and John Mitchell voted yes. NAVY NON-STOP FLIGHT STARTS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—The navy's non-stop, mass flight from San Diego to Coco Solo, C. Z., began at 10:20 a. m., today when 14 patrol bombers lifted from the water and headed seaward. The lead plane was that of Squadron Commander Lieut. Comdr. Bradford E. Grow. In quick succession the other planes began to take off, after a long run down the bay. The sky was overcast as the planes roared away on the 3057-statute mile hop. There are 25 officers and 73 enlisted men in the flight personnel.

To Chart Course Lieut. (JG) B. V. Clark, who little more than 24 hours ago was released from the naval hospital here, three weeks after he had sustained a broken leg, will act as flight navigator—entrusted with the task of plotting a safe course for the planes and personnel. Each of the huge planes will carry 1750 gallons or more than 10,000 pounds of gasoline at the take-off; aboard each will be regular and emergency supplies; pistols and ammunition will be carried for use should any of the planes be forced down in the trackless Central American jungles.

U.S. AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY TO RETIRE BERLIN, Dec. 8.—(UP)—United States Ambassador William F. Dodd today confirmed Washington dispatches that he had submitted his resignation. "I am retiring in January," Dodd told newspaper correspondents, "although I offered to resign last summer."

"Circumstances led to the request that I be returned to Berlin for a few months. I hope now to be able to renew my work on a history of the old south." Dodd said that he had been asked to accept the Berlin post in 1933 and "decided to accept it in spite of the fact that I am not a millionaire and am utterly unable to spend $50,000 a year as most American ambassadors are in the habit of doing."

MUCH NEEDED MILK CAUSE OF DISPUTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—They met in the cheerless hall of a tenement—the man who had been stealing the milk for his baby and the man on relief who needed it for his own child. Philip Trillo, 30, went to Bellevue hospital with a fractured jaw and a petty theft charge against him. Anthony Morano, 33, took the milk to his flat in lusterless triumph. "I'll never press a charge against him," he said. Trillo, who also is on relief, used to sit up nights because his baby was hungry and cried. The meager sum the city gave him mostly went for rent.

NAVY WILL SALVAGE WRECKED TUG KOKA

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Salvage operations to free the U.S.S. Koka, sea-going naval tug from the jagged rocks of San Clemente Island were to be started today. The big tug, listing at a 30-degree angle, with her fireproofs flooded was expected to be almost a total loss. Two great hoists were smashed in her bottom when she crashed into the rocks at the entrance to Wilson cove in a dense fog yesterday.

The personnel of the Koka, 59 officers and men, one officer and two enlisted marines and six WPA workers were rescued from the stricken tug shortly before 3 p. m. yesterday by the U.S.S. Conyngham while the U.S.S. Downes and U.S.S. Tuscaloosa stood by.

11 Rescued As Fishing Boats Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The 70-foot boat Sunlight sank today in a collision with the purse seiner Three Stars at sea 5 miles south of San Francisco. Twenty-three men were imperiled by the crash. Eleven men, the crew of the Sunlight, were rescued from their sinking craft by the 2-man crew of the Three Stars, which brought them back to San Francisco. The Three Stars was damaged slightly.

Accident Reported The collision occurred a mile off the Pt. Montara lightship, about seven miles from shore. The accident was reported by the marine department of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, which received the information from the Fish Delish Co., operator of the Sunlight.

First reports said the Three Stars, owned by Nick Joncich of Everett, Wash., rammed into the Sunlight amidships, tearing a great hole in her side. The collision occurred in virtual darkness, just before dawn. Visibility was described as "fairly good."

The Sunlight heeled over and sank in less than 15 minutes. Meanwhile the men of the Three Stars rescued the stricken ship's crew and later picked up the Sunlight's nets.

WEST MAY GO BEFORE JURY

Word that the county grand jury would take testimony this afternoon aroused interest in official circles today, in view of the recent request by a group of county officials that the grand jury investigate charges that the officials had misused public funds.

The charges, published in a certain newspaper, not The Register, were attributed to Supervisor N. E. West, who denied making the accusations. West, however, said he would seek grand jury action against officials who failed to turn their fees into the county treasury, in compliance with a new ordinance.

The courthouse today heard rumors that Supervisor West had been invited to appear before the grand jury. No subpoenas had been issued, it was said. Other witnesses might also testify, it was understood.

MERRIAM ADVISOR SUED FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Andrew T. Jergins, Long Beach millionaire oil man and advisor to Gov. Frank P. Merriam, was accused of habitual intemperance, it was revealed today when the secret divorce complaint of his wife, Mrs. Leota Jergins, was unveiled. Judge Fletcher Bowron unsealed the divorce petition after having ordered it sealed upon representation that there was a possibility the couple might become reconciled.

Mrs. Jergins alleged her husband, accused her falsely of associating with other men. He remained away from home without explanation, and on one occasion, in the presence of her mother, referred to Mrs. Jergins as "lower than any woman of the streets," the complaint said.

ANTI-SMUDGE LAW APPROVED BY BOARD; EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

The county supervisors late yesterday passed the anti-smudge ordinance, but will not make it effective until next summer, approximately June 1. The delay of 180 days, provided, however, observed: "I think we should enforce the ordinance."

A. J. Cruckshank, of Santa Ana, member of the orchard heating committee of Southern California, sponsored by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, also said he thought the ordinance should be enforced from the start.

The supervisors adopted the ordinance in the face of opposition from the Orange County Farm bureau, which had expressed the view that the time was not ripe for such a step. Farm bureau representatives said today that they had not changed their position in the matter.

Supervisor N. E. West has estimated that of the 1500 acres now supplied with heating equipment in the county, less than ten percent has obsolete equipment that would be affected by the ordinance.

SALVATION ARMY IN ANNUAL CAMPAIGN FOR YULE FUNDS

Once more taking up the annual task of providing dinners and toys for the needy children of the city, the Salvation Army and The Register today started the drive for $800 to meet needs of hungry kiddies and those unfortunates who might not share in the joy of the Christmas season.

Major John Naton of the Salvation Army estimates that nearly 400 families will be provided for with approximately 2000 meals. Toys and candy will be distributed to 500 poor children. Christmas dinner will be provided for homeless men at the Shelter.

Already contributions amounting to $55 have come into the Army headquarters from generous citizens of the county and community to "start the ball rolling."

Plan Yule Party Major Naton soon will announce the time and place for the Christmas party for needy children and their families and will make known the day for the distribution of the well-filled baskets of food throughout the community.

Two Christmas kettles, supervised by bonneted army "Lasses" have already been set up at two street intersections and at least four more will be placed at various points of vantage on Friday, Major Naton said.

"Every family that gives us an application will be taken care of," Major Naton said, "as soon as the investigation committee has passed on the application. We feel sure

STORM THREATENS SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—A severe rainstorm, gathering momentum 700 miles off the California coast, will strike the San Francisco bay area and valley areas late tonight or tomorrow, the U. S. weather bureau reported today.

The storm will bring heavy rain, fall and snow in the Sierra Nevada, and will be followed by several days of "raw and chilly" weather, the bureau predicted.

Truck Crops Damaged By Cold Wave

A new cold wave whipped south and east across the United States today as damage mounted to truck garden crops in Florida and other southern states. Temperatures ranged from 14 below zero at Williston, N. D., to 56 above at Brownsville and Corpus Christi, Tex., at 7 a. m.

Snow fell over most of the northern states east of the Rocky Mountains during the last 24 hours, with 10 inches at Buffalo recorded as the heaviest fall.

Temperatures in Florida were higher than yesterday but still below normal and Chicago Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnel said a heavy frost extended almost to the southern extremity last night. Florida's low temperatures included: Jacksonville 30, Tampa 32, and Miami 44.

Snow was falling as far south as Nashville, Tenn., the Muscle Shoals district of Alabama, and Ft. Smith, Ark.

Drifting snow blocked highways in many northern and central states and made high way traffic hazardous. Crops worth millions of dollars were imperiled by the south's unusually low temperatures. Florida citrus growers said their crops had been damaged only slightly, but truck gardeners estimated their damage at 40 per cent.

Ten other ranch concerns were included in the list of participants, all being located in the San Joaquin or Sacramento valleys.

Son Is Born To Register Reporter

Another "news hound" had entered the Santa Ana field at 1:30 p. m. today when a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Vissman, of North Ross street at Sargent's maternity home where the mother and son were reported "doing nicely."

Vissman, veteran newspaperman, employee of The Register, called in the "scoop" from the scene of the joyous event shortly before the deadline on the final edition of The Register.

Seeks Damages

Charges and counter-charges featured a sensational marital mix-up when Mrs. Marion Allgeyer, above, and Millionaire H. E. Spaulding appeared in a New York court. Each contended the other was married before the two were "wed" in 1925, and later divorced. Mrs. Allgeyer, now wife of a New Orleans physician, asked $1,000,000 damages on her bigamy complaint.

Seek Lost Philippine Army Chief

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Brig. Gen. Paulino V. Santos, chief-of-staff of the Philippine army, and two other high ranking army officers, still were missing today, more than 48 hours after they left the island of Cebu for Manila in an army bomber.

Army, navy and commercial airplanes searched for the missing craft over the bleak and unexplored wildernesses around the Sierra Madre ranges in Southern Luzon, chief island of the Archipelago.

Insular troops from four provinces also were ordered out to conduct a ground search for the general and his companions, Lt. William Lee, of Weatherford, Tex., chief of the Philippine army air corps and Col. Fidel Segundo, head of the army intelligence department.

The three were forced down while returning here from the island of Mindanao, in Linao Province, where they went to supervise attempts to quell Moro outlaws, of the Mohammedan faith, who consistently have fought off attempts at government subjugation.

OSA JOHNSON SEEKS $502,539 FOR CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Mrs. Osa Johnson sought $502,539 damages today for the death of her husband Martin in an airliner crash near Los Angeles last winter. She charged the plane was flying at a "dangerously low altitude" when it crashed into a mountain side.

She filed the damage suit in superior court against Western Air Express Corp., United Airports Co. of California, Ltd., and others. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Frieda Crips, was named a co-defendant. The complaint said she was made a party to the defense because she refused to join the widow as a co-plaintiff.

Mrs. Johnson claimed her husband was earning more than $100,000 a year as an explorer-lecturer and his death robbed her of support for a normal period of 20 years.

ORANGE MAN GETS 10-YEAR SENTENCE

Filiberto Becerra of Orange, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Pablo Balderrama in Orange October 17, 1936, must serve 10 years at San Quentin, the state board of prison directors has ruled, it was learned here today.

Becerra was tried on a murder charge but the jury verdict was manslaughter. The killing of Balderrama followed the citrus pickers' strike of July, 1936, when Balderrama was said to have made enemies by attempting to continue working through the strike.

ACTOR SEEKS DIVORCE

They married Dec. 17, 1934, aboard the S. S. Leviathan.

DEATH RAINS ON NANKING DEFENDERS

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The Japanese armies took recourse to long range bombardment today in their siege of Nanking, pounding the walls of the capital from the air, land and water when infantry assaults failed to dislodge the Chinese defenders.

Land and river batteries shelled the capital and airplanes made bombing raids throughout the day, the Domei News agency reported. It said the Japanese had met stiff resistance and the final assault on the walls was uncertain.

City Surrounded The Japanese forces charged on Nanking from three sides but found a stubborn wall of Chinese resistance. There was furious fighting a few miles outside the city, directly in line with the east gate. The Chinese were withdrawing inside the east gate and the Japanese vanguard had not caught up with them.

Japanese sources said that heavy artillery pieces were being set up on the summit of Purple Mountain (Continued On Page 2, Column 1)

DELAY ACTION ON FARM BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—A new barrage of proposals for encouraging business, and persistent opposition to crop control hindered the attempts of congressional leaders today to complete the most complex and controversial farm bill in legislative history.

Plans to get the farm measure through both houses before the weekend were almost abandoned. So little progress has been made in the senate, where only 20 pages of the 100 page bill have been discussed in two days, that some members feared final approval might be delayed until the regular session in January.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D. Ky., and House Speaker William B. Bankhead, D. Ala., believed, however, that they had succeeded in getting the bill over the most dangerous hurdles. Yesterday the senate forces showed (Continued On Page 2, Column 4) to dominate the city and the Yangtze river for many miles.

The fall of the capital appeared inevitable. The Japanese were confident that it would be soon, perhaps today.

PREPARE FOR "LAST STAND"

NANKING, Dec. 8. — (UP) — Thousands of Chinese coolies were pressed into service of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's army today as the government made feverish preparations for a last stand defense of the capital.

United States embassy and naval authorities were ready to maneuver the United States gunboat Panay into a position where it could take aboard 15 Americans who have refused to leave the city until the last minute.

Chinese military leaders denied Japanese reports that the heights of Purple Mountain, about six miles outside the city proper, had been taken.

JAPANESE PLAN VICTORY CELEBRATION

TOKYO, Dec. 8. — (UP) — Japan's millions waited intensely today to begin a mammoth celebration of the fall of Nanking while government leaders conferred on what would be the empire's future position in China.

Residents of Tokyo prepared to swarm into the great plaza in front of the imperial residence of Emperor Hirohito after "victory parades" in all parts of the city.

A spokesman for the foreign office hinted that Japan might demand territorial concessions in China should Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his followers continue to resist Japan.

He insisted, however, that Japan at present was without any territorial designs in China.

The spokesman said that any peace negotiations must be initiated by China.

BOARD ATTACKS JUVENILE GROUP

for the juvenile home and presented the probation committee's request, with a motion to approve it, explained that he was only doing so in order to cooperate with the juvenile committee, as he did not personally feel satisfied with the way the juvenile home was managed.

That gave Supervisor West ground for attacking the juvenile home policies. "If the committee isn't satisfied with the request, I can't support it," he said. West proceeded to declare that he didn't agree with the probation committee's position that the staff of the juvenile home is being overworked, some being on duty 24 hours a day, with only one day off a week, and one Sunday off in four.

"Policy All Wrong"

"I don't think their program is based on sound policy," said West. "No other county goes in for such elaborate personnel. Where we retain children in the home several months, San Bernardino county retains them only nine days. In San Bernardino county he head of the probation department, on the day off, takes personal charge of the juvenile home. We are considering here, the request of a group that doesn't have responsibility for expending funds."

Mitchell said that in visits to the juvenile home he had noticed that Superintendent Fred Germany "was away a good deal" and remarked that he believed a man and wife should have charge of the home. It was only natural for the superintendent to want to be with his family, said Mitchell. He also expressed disbelief that the staff was over-worked. During school hours they have little to do, and "some of them think that they are working while they sleep," said Mitchell.

Roll Call Vote

There are five members of the juvenile home staff now. Mitchell said Riverside and San Bernardino counties each have five, Fresno county three, and San Joaquin county (Stockton) three.

On Chairman Smith's first call for a vote on Mitchell's motion, which Riley had seconded, Mitchell himself did not vote and Riley's vote was the only aye. Smith then called for a roll call, so Mitchell voted aye, with Riley and Smith himself supporting the motion. West voted no, and Finley, saying nothing, voted no. With four votes needed, the motion was declared lost.

WOMAN WINS RACE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

MILFORD, Ill., Dec. 8. — (UP) — Miss Jessie Sumner, comely and 39 years old, today celebrated her election as the first woman county judge in the country and pledged herself to "show the world that a woman can be a good judge."

In her auburn hair—"It used to be blonde but you know how those things are"—there were streaks of grey. She said it appeared during her vigorous campaign but she smiled as she pointed to her 2 to 1 victory over Democrat Clifford E. Beach.

The election filled the vacancy caused by the death of Miss Sumner's uncle, Judge John H. Gillan. Beach used as his campaign slogan: "You don't want a woman for a judge" but the rural folk of Lincoln county gave Miss Sumner, 4,781 votes to Beach's 2,542. Records of the American Bar association show that a woman never before has held a county judgeship.

"SPECULATORS" ARE ATTACKED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — (UP) — Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis, D., Ill., today denounced in the senate "the speculators, tricksters and conspirators" he said were seeking to create panic by "false cries and murky assaults upon their nation, its securities and its business."

Lewis—a suave figure with flowing green tie under his pink beard—demanded:

"What is the matter with America?"

In reply to his own question, he read newspaper dispatches concerning business conditions and demands for revision. There appeared to be, he said, a peculiar unity of condemnation of the government.

Lewis charged that "some superior source" was directing the campaign of criticism.

MARITIME ACT REVISION DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — (UP) — Congressional committees began work today on proposed revision of the national maritime act while Chairman Schuyler Otis Bland of the house merchant marine committee denied that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had been invited to testify on the measure.

Bland, whose committee will study recommendations of the federal maritime commission for subsidies for ocean airline companies, said only government officials had been invited to appear before his committee.

Lindbergh, associated with Pan-American Airlines, largest U. S. trans-ocean operator, has been reported contemplating appearing before the house committee since his return from England last Sunday.

WHEREIN RASCALS PLY THEIR WILY TRICKS AND MARY DUGAN BEATS "A RAP" FOR MURDER

BY GEORGE HART

A knife-throwing act right out of vaudeville, in, of all places, a court of law, unmasked a fork-hand killer and enabled Mary Dugan, the girl from across the tracks, to beat a murder rap in superior court here late yesterday.

The two-day trial in Judge Scofield Nash's court, where the Dugan woman was accused of slaying what the chorus fluffs call her heavy sugar, Edgar Rice, the Victoria Drive playboy, crashed to a five-star climax when Mary's kid brother, Jimmy Dugan, the San Francisco lawyer who was defending her, suddenly upset the prosecution's beans.

Proceeds To "Execute"

Young Lawyer Dugan, who had barged into the middle of the trial and bounced his sister's attorney off the job for lying down upon it, proceeded to execute a masterpiece of criminal defense, and an even better bit of vaudeville, to expose the real villains and win acquittal for his pretty sister.

The defense made sure that Mary same size collar, simply by shifting the neck-stretcher to the trembling figure of her ex-attorney, Edward West, who had made the slip of catching the death-knife with his left hand when Lawyer Dugan unexpectedly tossed it at him, on the witness stand.

Sneer Takes Count

There was West, his face the picture of guilt. There, too, stood District Attorney Galwey, the picture of a blank wall. The sneer that had been hanging on the end of his face throughout the trial suddenly dropped off on the floor, and he had no other expression handy to put in his place.

And when the scoundrel shyder on the witness stand was hustled off to jail, with him went the supposedly grief-stricken wife of the victim, now amazingly exposed as an accomplice in the crime. It seems that all the while she had been looking down her aristocratic nose at her husband's girl friend, for not being all that she ought to be, Mrs. Rice was herself girl-friend to Lawyer West. And when Rice found it out, he raised a row

Already, the California organization has expanded tremendously, with many members in Washington, Oregon and Arizona. President

Bishop has been prominent in organization of the Associated Farmers group, now having headquarters in San Francisco.

The Bishops arrived home late last night from San Jose.

On the program were Paul F. St. Sure, attorney for the Processors and Growers league, who spoke on "Canner and Farmer"; Senator John Phillips, Banning, "Labor Conditions in Europe"; from where he just returned; Sam Hume, executive director of the Crusaders, pro-American group, "The Fight for True Americanism"; Ray Riley, "The Farmer and Transportation"; John Pickett, editor of the Pacific Rural Press, "Racketeering and the Farmer"; and Col. Refinancing Act To Undergo Test

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8. — (UP) — Constitutionality of the state bond refinancing act was challenged today in a suit filed in superior court here by George Pollock, local contractor, against A. R. Gallaway Jr., president of the state reclamation board.

The action seeks a writ or mandate to compel the board to issue 4 per cent bonds for the purpose of refinancing $266,500 worth of Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district bonds, Feather River assessment No. 7, which carry 6 per cent interest. Pollock owns land along the Feather River.

BOARD DEFERS FEE PLAN MOVE

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson's proposal for an agreement with the county supervisors on a date when fees of the treasurer shall start being turned into the county treasury, was discussed again by the supervisors late yesterday, without a decision being reached as to acceptance.

Supervisor John Mitchell expressed belief that the matter was not one that could be "compromised," since the new ordinance, under which fees of officials are claimed by the county, purported to outline the time when the fees should be turned in. If the ordinance provisions are not clear, it should be amended, Mitchell said.

Chairman Willard Smith and Supervisor N. E. West yesterday differed with Mitchell's idea that Stephenson had proposed a compromise. They didn't consider it such, they said. It was merely suggesting agreement on a date when the fee plan should be considered in effect. Stephenson had suggested October 25, which West said was the date the supervisors had intended in passing the ordinance.

GASOLINE STOLEN

From the Orange county trap wagon last night, thieves stole 20 to 22 gallons of gasoline, according to a report filed by Deputy Sheriff Walt Dugan. The wagon had been left over night on Smelter road between Cannery road and Huntington Beach boulevard.

MECHANIC'S PLAN "SHORTS" ON HIM AS HE IS NABBED AT CAR

An automobile mechanic who knew how to cut and splice ignition wiring so that he assertedly could steal a car, driving it away without use of the ignition key, made one mistake early today.

He spliced the wires in such a way that they "shorted." Discovered in the county area as he struggled to repair the "short," Paul Trotter, 20, auto mechanic who entered the country illegally from Canada, according to officers, was arrested on a grand theft charge.

Enoch Mott, 22, with Trotter, also was arrested on a grand theft charge. He also was a Canadian, in this country illegally, according to arresting officers, Deputy Sheriffs Fred Swayze and A. J. Anderson. According to the officers, the youths confessed they stole the car on Ontario, Calif., from a private garage, and intended driving it to Long Beach but the "short" stopped them.

The pair probably will be deported after disposition of their cases, officers said.

CASH REGISTER RIFLED

Two Mexican men were blamed yesterday for theft of $17 to $20 from the cash register at the S. E. Cook grocery store, 222 North Main. While Cook was out in the yard, the Mexicans entered the store, Officer L. H. Nicholson was informed.

THIEF GETS SHOES

Orange county pleasure seekers Saturday night are expected to take advantage of an unusual opportunity to hear and dance to latest tunes from the new Warner Bros. picture, "Hollywood Hotel," which will be played at the Laguna Beach ballroom.

Lee Mann, director of the Sunny Californians orchestra, said that through the cooperation of "Lucky" Wilber, noted Hollywood music figure, arrangements had been completed whereby a beautiful singing movie actress would present the new numbers from the film. She will sing with the orchestra for all vocal numbers.

McElroy is confined to the county jail.

The body was taken to the Brown and Wagner funeral home where arrangements for burial will be announced tomorrow.

Music Students Present Recital

A recital was presented Tuesday evening at Melrose Abbey by the Gracia-Groves music studios of Oceanview and Santa Ana, 13 pupils being presented in solo and group numbers.

Christmas music was by an accordion assembly composed of eight intermediate students, Betty Mills, Jack Miles, Claudia Hundley, Bob Greenwald of Santa Ana, Louise Heim of Orange; Viola Gaston, James Marshall and Calvin Groves of Oceanside. Miss Betty Moulton presented numbers including compositions of Bach, Nevin, Brown and Friml. Lorraine Beckman's numbers were from compositions of Haydn, Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Schytte.

Billy Hall offered semi-modern numbers and several light operas were by Miss Myrnie Adams of Tustin. Miss Margaret Van Meter presented two accordion numbers at the request of the Abbey officials, these return numbers being "Evening Star" by Wagner, and the "Raymond Overture."

COUNTY WELFARE PARLEY PLANNED

A special meeting of the county supervisors has been called for Friday at 2 p.m. for a conference with Miss Margaret Watkins, field agent for the state department of welfare, on personnel standards being set up by the state for the county welfare departments.

Miss Watkins, who represents Mrs. Florence L. Turner, state director of social welfare, is gathering the views and suggestions of county officials on the question, which will be subject of a conference scheduled in Sacramento December 16, between representatives of county boards of supervisors, county welfare departments, and the state welfare department.

The conference will seek agreement on a set of personnel standards to conform to the requirements of the state social security board.

Man In Car Theft Must Face Charge

Harold E. Sandow, 26-year-old cook at 911 East Sixth, who was charged with being drunk and with auto theft, was held to answer to superior court by Justice Kenneth Morrison today in Santa Ana.

Officers Chet Gross and Daniel Jones stopped at Fourth and Minter to make inquiries of him, and he jumped from the car, ran, was captured by the officers, then denied he had been in the car. George Helberg, 519 East Fourth, said the car had been stolen from his yard.

Help Is Favored On Relief Rolls

Addition of a stenographer-clerk to the office of Harry Edwards, county veteran's welfare officer, was approved by the county supervisors yesterday, to expedite work of transferring veterans' cases from county relief rolls to the federal government rolls.

"I haven't had time to make an investigation," said Supervisor Harry Riley. "I have, and I'm satisfied that the additional help will save the county several times its cost," said Supervisor N. E. West. Riley expressed himself as satisfied with the investigation made by the others.

"This department always has been a money-maker for the county," said Chairman Willard Smith. "It does not have one disabled veteran on county relief," said West. "I imagine no other county in the country can match that record."

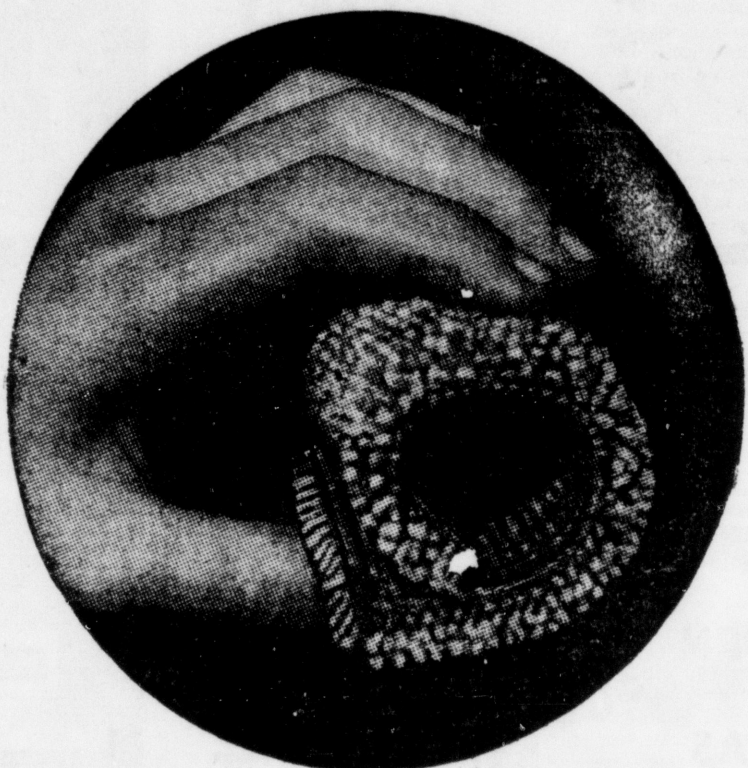

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat

Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are overburdened or overeat, your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes three little black capsules called Bell-Une for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Bell-Une is so quick it is amazing and the package shows it. Ask for Bell-Une for indigestion. Sold everywhere. (c) Bell & Co. 1937.

LAYSEE IN TIE AFTER DEBATES

Six victories in eight conference debates left Santa Ana Junior college tied for the leadership of the Eastern conference forensic league today following the first round of tournament debating at San Bernardino yesterday. Fullerton was the only other college to make a similar record in tournament decisions.

The Dons were represented in the championship division of the tournament by two teams, one composed of Ernest Barrett and Jack Hutton, and another by Miss Christine Burbank and James Bartlett. Practice tilts were also held during the day, Santa Ana being represented by Dick Geeting and Isamu Masuda.

All teams entering the conference meet were called upon to debate both sides of the league question. "Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes."

In a special series of debates following the championship round, the Don team of Barrett and Hutton defeated San Bernardino, losing in turn to Fullerton.

The next tournament is scheduled for February, probably at Pomona, where the Santa Ana squad will be called upon to argue the same question.

Conference standings as a result of yesterday's debates:

	W. L. Pct.
Santa Ana	6 2 .750
Fullerton	6 2 .750
San Bernardino	4 4 .500
Riverside	3 5 .375
Pomona	1 7 .125
Citrus	0 8 .000
Chaffey	0 8 .000

Those who take to sectionalism are apt to perish by sectionalism.

The South is split four ways on its cotton program. The planters and statesmen, like Senator Bankhead of Alabama, who are worried over the grave social problems arising from increasing tenancy and destitution among whites and blacks in the cotton belt, are in favor of immediate compulsory cotton control. This may save the state of the old southeast, but cotton growers in Texas can make money on five cent cotton and see no need for sacrificing their own productivity to save the Bourbons east of the Mississippi river.

Then there are the cotton speculators and their political allies—members of the Baruch bloc, friends of the brokers, ginning and transportation interests, who do not wish to limit the cotton crop, who make their profits out of fluctuating prices, and who would be glad to see all agricultural controls abandoned in the interest of the gamblers on the commodity exchanges. Allied to them are the solid southern senators banded on the north by Tydings of Maryland and on the south by George of Georgia—men who reflect the will of the utilities and the textile industry of the southern Piedmont. They want cheap cotton for their mills, and if cheap cotton drives poor people from the land, so much the better for the looms and spindles along the fall-line.

The North is similarly divided. Northern industrial interests, particularly in New England, want a wages and hours bill which will equalize competitive conditions between northern and southern factories. They are prepared to block the cotton plan unless the South yields on wages. They are supported by the northern dairy interests, as represented by Representative Boileau of Wisconsin, who fear lest crop reduction may lead to increased acreage for forage crops and dairy pastures, thus threatening the country with cheaper milk and cheese. In the house, a Wisconsin representative has bluntly stated his fears: "To go along with this bill and invite other sections to plant legumes... is not fair to the Wisconsin dairyman or the dairymen of the nation."

Added to this immediate commercial interest is the general liberal dissatisfaction with southern leadership and a growing desire to punish the South for its obstructionism toward national reforms. Western agriculture generally favors crop control and labor legislation and would like to see both measures passed as soon as possible. The Republican minority generally opposes all reform and control measures and will vote blindly against anything on which the majority group may agree.

Under these circumstances, the fate of the farm bill of King Cotton and the solid south is far from certain. As an object lesson in the disadvantages of political disunity, it could scarcely be bettered. It does not present a flattering picture of congress' competence to legislate wisely for the nation. It suggests that the New Deal method of balanced economic interests is the only bond of unity which can reconcile these clashing sectionalisms. It marks a milestone in the democratic party's emancipation from the solid south that a New Deal cotton plan should not be adopted as a matter of course by a New Deal congress.

We, The People

By JAY FRANKLIN

THE FARM BILL FOLLIES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At this stage in the congressional frolicking, there seems to be some doubt as to whether they are debating a farm bill or staging an old-fashioned barn dance.

The administration fiddlers aren't giving the boys the good old mountain music of 1933 but are mouthing the "Balanced Abundance Blues" with crop quotas so ample that the farm belt would have to produce economic quintuplets before compulsory control can be achieved. Mr. Wallace seems too determined to avoid the ghosts of the little pigs and his estimates must all be revised downward if scarcity is to be the national farm policy.

The southern cotton planters are frankly aghast at King Cotton's dropical condition. For the first time in five years the south has succeeded in isolating itself again and the proposals for a special compulsory cotton control plan fail to enlist hearty cheers from those who pay the piper. Southern opposition to relief, to labor legislation and to national reform in general has cooled northern and western sympathy for the sufferings of Dixie. As a result, congress is split at least eight ways over the cotton problem and before the session is over the southerners should find themselves in the pit they dug for the president's reform program.

Those who take to sectionalism are apt to perish by sectionalism.

The South is split four ways on its cotton program. HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO H. B. MAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 8.—Sam E. Garren, of 523 South Dittman street, Los Angeles, garage man at the Bristol service station at Ocean boulevard and Sixth street, died of a heart attack yesterday afternoon. The inhalator squad of the Huntington Beach fire department worked over Garren for two hours but was unable to revive him.

Garren is survived by the widow and three children. The body is at the Dixon chapel. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

COUNTY HEARS SCOUT REQUEST

Request of Harrison White, county Boy Scout executive, for assistance from the county in maintaining Irvine Camp, used by boy and girl groups of the county, was taken under consideration for a week by the county supervisors late yesterday.

White's request would involve about $125 to $150 per year for a guard of county prisoners, which Sheriff Logan Jackson had promised to provide for "hiding up" the camp grounds. White said, "The sheriff has assured us of full cooperation" said White.

Chairman Willard Smith, who is parks committeeman, suggested that one man be added to the county park crew, which has been operating short-handed, and the park crew then could take care of the necessary work on the camp grounds, estimated to require several days each month.

"I thought you had abandoned the camp grounds," said Supervisor Harry Riley.

"Where'd you get that idea?" asked White. "We have had 2900 boys and girls at the camp ground during the past year."

Grounds Leased
Supervisor John Mitchell at first suggested that it would not be legal to contribute public funds to a private organization, as the Boy Scouts, but it was explained to him that the Irvine company had leased the grounds to the county, for the use of all groups in the county, merely stipulating that the Boy Scout organization should supervise its use, because it has the necessary executive set-up. Mitchell said he considered the Scout organization worthy and the camp ground idea good, but desired another week to study the matter.

Supervisor N. E. West said he felt the appropriation would be a good investment in juvenile welfare, and considered that the camp ground would be a better place to solve juvenile delinquency problems than the juvenile home.

Week-ends he spends in Riverside and San Bernardino counties gathering specimens and examining prospective mineral locations.

In Paying Quantities
Lee started the study of geology and mineralogy through a correspondence school, because he was interested in minerals. Later he continued the study in night classes in Riverside and San Bernardino.

One of the first successful applications of his hobby came some time ago when he checked and assayed ore from the Riverside homestead of a friend of his and discovered gold and silver in paying quantities in addition to other valuable minerals.

Seeks New "Lab"
Later he found gold on another property near Daguerre, upon which he had been given permission to prospect. He told the owners of his discovery and may receive a share of the mine for his trouble when the property is developed.

At present, Lee is seeking an indoor location for his laboratory so he will not have to discontinue his study during the winter.

"It gets pretty cold in the garage these chilly nights," he said.

AUTRY SINGS AND RIDES AGAIN SOON

Gene Autry, the Singing Cowboy, comes to the State theater beginning Friday in a variety program which also includes four short features. The title of his latest picture, the one scheduled, is "The Old Corral", thrill-packed western musical.

"Playing the Ponies," a Three-Stroke comedy; "Speaking of the Weather," color cartoon; "Secret Agent X-9," Chapter 8, and latest news, also are offered.

Devotees of the Boy-Meet-Horse brand of screen entertainment will thrill to every hoofbeat in "The Old Corral," with Autry, Smiley Burnette, Hope Manning, Lon Chaney, Jr., John Bradford and many others.

In this feature, there's a macabre night club murder involving a beautiful entertainer, a cross country bus race, wild west holdups aplenty and clashes between the West's law enforcement bodies and the East's gangsters.

CRANSTON LETTER EXPLAINS POSITION IN GUARDIANSHIP

When they exchanged executives in Oklahoma City, J. A. Cranston, former school superintendent and probate committee chairman, today issued an explanation of his position as guardian of Mrs. Sophie Gerardelly, and the attacks made upon him, as such, by Mrs. Gerardelly's daughter, in the courts, where she sought his removal.

In a letter to The Register, Cranston said:

Editor:

"I am asking you, in the spirit of fairness, to give this statement regarding my guardianship of the estate of Sophie Gerardelly the same kind of publicity you gave your article regarding this affair, in your issue of December 4th.

"I was appointed guardian of the estate of Mrs. Sophie Gerardelly, March 29th, 1934, following the dismissal of her daughter as guardian, who had her mother taken to the County Hospital to be adjudged insane. I did not seek the position of guardian, but was urged to accept the appointment by Mrs. Gerardelly's attorney, and accepted because Mrs. Gerardelly and her late husband were very faithful and efficient school janitors for many years, while I was superintendent for the Santa Ana schools.

Charge of Homes
"During the first year and a half of my time as guardian, I had nothing to do with the income from the estate, except to endorse checks from stocks, over to Mrs. Gerardelly. She had entire charge of her two homes here in renting, collecting rent and in paying the necessary bills connected therewith, including taxes and repairs. This responsibility became irksome with her, and she urged me to relieve her of that responsibility, by selling all of her property. With the consent and recommendation of the court and my attorney, I sold her stocks and two homes and purchased a $7000.00 annuity of the Occidental Life Insurance Co., which has been paying Mrs. Gerardelly $54.32 each month, and will so continue for the balance of her life. At her death the balance will be paid to her estate. I received no commission from the purchase of that annuity, and if I had purchased the annuity of my own company, the Central Life Assurance Society of Des Moines, Iowa, not one penny of my commission would have come out of the estate of my ward. My company would have paid my commission. In buying the annuity I had reserved the balance from the sale of the property for any emergencies and placed the same in a deposit box. Up to the time of selling Mrs. Gerardelly's property, the net income from ALL of her property was about $31.00 per month, as against $54.32 she now receives from her annuity.

"With the exception of two months last Spring, Mrs. Gerardelly has been living with her brothers back in Iowa. During the two months that she was living here in Santa Ana her daughter caused her to be taken again out to the County Hospital to be adjudged insane. Again the case was dismissed. But that experience frightened Mrs. Gerardelly that she decided to return to her brothers in Iowa. After returning to Iowa she kept writing me that she did not want me to keep paying box rent. I finally wrote her that I would discontinue renting her box and would place her funds and papers in my deposit box if she wished, and that was done. According to bank rules, no one had access to her box except myself, not even Mrs. Gerardelly without my being with her. So if I were disposed to be crooked, I could have played that game whether the funds were in her box or mine, but I was under bonds sufficient to cover the amount of funds in question, and am responsible for every dollar of her funds, whether he be in a deposit box or in my own personal account.

Sought Release
"For many months I have wished to be released of this responsibility and annoyance, but at the earnest solicitation of Mrs. Gerardelly I have continued to befriend a worthy old lady and defend her against the merciless attacks of her daughter. Plans have been under way for some time to have the guardianship transferred to one of her brothers in Iowa, and that will be accomplished soon.

"I have tried to be brief in writing this article, but the nature of the case and defense of my character are my sole excuse for its length.

(Signed) "J. A. CRANSTON."

MARONEY BUYS GARBO SCORES PIXLEY STORE: SALE PLANNED

Announcement was made today of the purchase of one of Orange county's oldest business establishments—the Pixley Furniture store on North Glassell street in Orange—by Frank V. Maroney, prominent Santa Ana business man.

Coinciding with this announcement, it was revealed Maroney will conduct a short sale soon to dispose of the greater portion of the stock.

The store has been in operation in Orange for 47 years. Founded by the late D. C. Pixley, it was originally a combination hardware and furniture store. W. C. Pixley, the present owner, has operated the store for about 35 years.

The furniture store has been conducted in the same general locality since its organization.

Will Move Stock
At the end of the sale, details of which will be announced later, Maroney will remove the remainder of the merchandise to his Santa Ana store, located at 302 North Sycamore street. Maroney has conducted that store since coming to this city four years ago.

Maroney is well known in both Santa Ana and Orange, having conducted furniture stores for a period of more than 17 years.

In commenting upon the purchase Maroney said the stock in the Pixley store was the cleanest he had ever bought.

The store was closed for a short time yesterday morning while arrangements for the purchase were completed.

FARM TESTS TO BE HELD SOON

Written examinations for county agricultural inspectors will be held in Orange county and elsewhere throughout the state on December 29, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs announced today, stating that oral examinations will be held at a later date for those applicants who pass the written examinations.

Tubbs explained that the examinations are for the purpose of establishing an eligibility list for appointments.

"No vacancy exists at present in the Orange county agricultural office," said Tubbs, "but a state law requires that the director of agriculture pass upon the qualifications of all persons desiring to become county agricultural inspectors, and at the present time the eligible list is entirely exhausted."

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. GARBO SCORES IN NEW FILM

"Conquest," warmly humanized story of Napoleon and the Polish countess who was his great love, in which Greta Garbo enacts the tragic Marie, and Charles Boyer, the Emperor, forced to desert her to marry a Hapsburg princess for reasons of state, opens today at the West Coast.

Second feature, with an exceptionally fine cast, is a lively comedy, "Beg, Borrow or Steal." The cast includes such notables among comedians, as Frank Morgan, Florence Rice, Herman Bing, Eric Rhodes, George Givot, Cora Witherspoon, Reginald Denry, Vladimir Sokoloff and John Beal.

Research for making "Conquest" was extensive. Not only were the locales and happenings reproduced and historical characters recreated by the wizardry of new makeup inventions but all personal mannerisms of the characters were studied. Ninety-one sets, ranging from a tiny room to an entire palace, were constructed for making this magnificent love story into a picture.

"Beg, Borrow or Steal" is bolstered with lively dialog, making it a swift-moving farce full of laugh-provoking situations. Morgan portrays a soldier of fortune in France, who makes his living by his wits, mostly selling fake art objects to wealthy Americans.

A small throat mike for pilot designed to reduce hazards of present large-size hand microphones is under test. Interfering noise, such as roaring of engines, are reduced sharply and the pilot's hands are free for manipulating controls.

TUSTIN DRUBS SAINTS, 34-20

Tustin's Southern California champions returned to form yesterday and gave Santa Ana high school's "new" basketball team a 34-20 thumping at Andrews gymnasium.

In a preliminary, Tustin's Class B five noded out the Santa Ana sophomores, 21-20.

The Terrible Tillers dominated the action all the way, leading 6-2 at the quarter, 21-12 at the half, 25-14 after three quarters.

Although he had trouble pivoting on the slippery Santa "dance floor," Larry Monroy shot 16 points for Coach Bill Cole's club. Santa Ana's guards couldn't do a thing about him.

Coach Joe Kogler of the Saints used two full teams in an effort to find a winning combination. Mel Barron and Milton Smith, just through with football, saw some action. Santa Ana plays Excelsior here Friday.

Tustin, defending champion, goes to La Verne college tomorrow to open play in the annual Bonita invitational tournament. The Farmers meet Claremont at 3 p. m. in the first round.

Captains Bet Seat Of Pants On Grid Game

BATON ROUGE, La.—"Pinky" Rohm, Louisiana State fullback, has an unusual football trophy hanging on the wall of his room. Pinky, acting captain in the meeting with Tulane, made a wager with Norman Hall, guard and co-captain of the Green Wave, over the outcome of the game. They bet each other the seat of their football pants.

After the Tigers had won, 20-7, Pinky marched into the Greenie's locker room armed with a scissors. In just 30 seconds the bet was paid off.

'RABBIT BALL' ISSUE SPLITS MAJOR LEAGUE

BY STEVE SNIDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO—Wearry club officials of both major leagues turned their annual joint session with Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis into a peace conference today in an effort to settle the wide-open breach over the jack-rabbit baseball.

The "rabbit ball" remained a live topic. Each league reportedly was irked at the other's action which may give them a different type of ball for the first time since a standard was reached in 1933.

No sooner had the National league voted to slow down its official ball than American league owners reversed their stand and guaranteed their own home run hitters continued prosperity at the expense of the lively ball used in 1937.

National leagueurs left they were double-crossed when owners in the other circuit, on record last winter as favoring a "dead" ball, failed to carry out their announced plan. American league club officials reversed themselves shortly after the National league, which manly felt was premature.

Three things can happen in today's joint session:
1. The vote may stand—National league with a slowed up ball; Americans with their 1937 ball.

2. The National league may postpone adoption of the slow ball until both leagues have agreed on a standard.

3. The American league may rescind its "no" vote on the dead ball.

The second choice apparently was the most logical. The National league, which features tight defensive play and features tight defensive play and good pitching, probably will not attempt to shackle its offensive further while American league batters frolic as usual.

There was slim chance that the American league will adopt the heavier covered ball. Home runs and high scoring games were held responsible for an attendance increase of 1,000,000 over 1936.

Only activity on the trading mart today was a catcher trade which sent Sari Grace of the Philadelphia Phillies to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for "Cap" Clark, a youngster who played with the Houston club of the Texas league and Columbus in the American association.

ARMY PURGES RANKS OF GRADUATE STARS

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army athletic ranks were closed today to collegiate stars who, having completed three years of varsity competition elsewhere, wish to continue sports careers at West Point.

The same eligibility rules which prevail at Annapolis and other leading colleges will govern Army varsity teams henceforth. Major General William Connor, superintendent, announced.

Previously, three years of varsity competition was allowed any cadet irrespective of college experience. It was this disregard of rules prevailing in virtually every college in the country that precipitated the famous break in Army-Navy football relations in 1928 and caused Big Ten teams to drop the West Pointers from schedules.

'Y' Basketball League Leaders Tangle Tonight

In what promises to be one of the best basketball games of the season, Wilson's undefeated Dairy-men clash tonight with A's Lock and Key shop in the first game of a "Y" league triple billing.

The joust gets under way at 7 o'clock and matches the two strongest teams in the race. For Wilson's the high scoring "Chuck" Denio and Bob Schwarm will be guarded closely. Bill Kolkhorst and Emmett Seacord lead A's for scoring honors.

Patterson's Dairy vs. Montgomery Ward at 8, and Excelsior Creamery vs. Penhall Brothers at 9 are the other two games.

SPORTS-MAN-ABOUT-TOWN

Jimmy Coates, the softball Sultan, is working for an oil company at Brea. He doesn't want any more of the San Joaquin valley (even at thirty fish a game) if there's any way around it. If Brea lands him it may come into the National Night league next season....

Bill Cook's fame is spreading. The Man in Bronze is in the After-Dinner league. He took off for two speeches yesterday, one at Escondido and another at Placencia when Valencia high school's gridmen were feted. Don teams coached by Cook (11 years) have played 116 games, won 67, lost 34, tied 15 for an all-time average of .663, no paltry batting figure. They've run up 1363 points to their opposition's 769....

The recently wedded Lolita Mead, two-time queen of the Santa Ana Country club's fairways, is abandoning golf for the kitchen. Too bad, but I guess the linotypes and proof-readers won't grumble because they'd have a heck of a time getting her new name spelled correctly. It's Goehagan....

One nice thing about the new wrangle set-up at the Orange County Athletic club is that Joe (Sleeping Beauty) Varga's services as referee are no longer in demand. Guess Joe was too closely linked with the Doro boys, his son, Bill (Young Stecher) being in the Doro menage....

A Huntington Beach Handicap is listed as one of the stake features for Santa Ana's coming season. It will be run Jan. 9.

Neubauer is cur-rasy if he thinks Orange isn't going to be there or thereabouts in the Sunset league basketball race. The Fullerton Fulminator forgets that Coach "Hod" Chambers has back six lettermen: Bob Schildmeyer, 6'1 cent; Hank Martinez and Gil Lierum, forwards; and Ray Ambling and Vernon Worden, guards, off the only team that pinned back the ears of Tustin's Southern California champs last season....

Santa Ana fits quite snugly into the Citrus Belt league, which was formed way back yonder in 1901 as the Interscholastic Athletic League of Southern California and is the oldest high school conference existing in the Southland. It antedates the C. I. F. itself by 10 years. The original set-up included Redlands, Ontario, Pomona, Riverside and Fullerton. San Bernardino entered in 1906. When Fullerton dropped out the alliance became known as the Citrus Belt league. The Saints should feel highly honored to have been admitted to such a hallowed institution....

"Takes" Oliver is sitting on the sidelines at this week's Pacific Coast conference meeting at Del Monte. The Arizona coach would like to line up Trojans or Bruins for his schedule but after what his gang did to Oregon (20-6) last week I suspect the L. A. boys will be peering out the window again.... Bill Musick couldn't see out of his left eye when they dragged him out of the Saint-Santa Barbara office. The trouble cleared right up. No, there was nothing dirty in Denmark. Bill was even doing the blocking when he came to grief.

The scouts are after Jim's "little" brother but Bill might well spend a season with the Dons. He's not ready for the big time but they'll probably take him just as they did Jack Robinson. Bob Reid and Jim Crowther.... Best Saint prospect is Capt. Don Warhurst, who is earmarked for California....

"Rusty" Roquet and Cy Lelvermann, giant Don tackles, were two big reasons why Santa Barbara's frenzied rooters elected not to knock down Santa Ana's goal posts after the C.I.P. game last Saturday.... Larry Monroy, Tustin's mighty half-carrier, and "Gib" Bristol, crack center, are ticketed for Santa Ana Jaycee. So is Ray Ambling, Orange's captain and star tackle....

Little Las Vegas Is 'Last Frontier' Town

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—"Ship 'me somewhere East of Suez" where the best is like the worst, and there ain't no Ten Commandments, and a man can raise a thirst!"

So sang the honorable Rudyard Kipling, and after only two days in Las Vegas I would like to know why the adventurous Britisher wanted to make such a long boat trip.

Las Vegas was right here, rolling high, wide and handsome when Rudyard longed for Suez. And it's right here today. Spraying a coat of arms that features a bucking broncho rampant on a field of galloping dice. And its motto, freely translated from the original Western drawl reads: "Brother, anything goes—24 hours a day."

There are no locksmiths in this town, because no one carries a key. No one ever needs one. There are doors on the houses and gaming establishments only because the citizens like the sound of them swinging open.

The census taker's figures give Las Vegas a population of 8500. No more than spew from a single office building in New York at lunch hour. But you can get more action here in 15 minutes than you can get in a week of New York, with its population of seven, eight or nine millions.

For a man who likes his action there is no place like this little desert town which is described in the chamber of commerce brochures as "The Last Frontier."

It has everything. Men wear ten gallon hats and pack two guns. But for every cowboy outfit you'll see around a roulette wheel there'll be a white tie and tails. The chief of police, Dave Mackey, keeps his trigger finger in trim by shooting at tin cans from the back of a cayuse, but he can spot a "lammer" chased out of New York by Dewey a block away. And once spotted the "lammer" keeps moving. In Las Vegas the chief announcer at all wrestling shows is the lieutenant governor of the state of Nevada. The town just begins to get hot at three or four in the morning. At that time, when the dawn is preparing to splash the desert with all the colors, you'll find fifteen or twenty places going wide open, ready to give you

W.S.C. SIGNS HOLLINGBERRY FOR 3 YEARS

DEL MONTE—Pacific-Coast conference coaches were expected today to make some definite recommendation regarding the proposed appointment of a $20,000-a-year "high commissioner" to control athletic contests of the eight big Western colleges and universities.

Faculty members of the conference were reported to have made progress on the subject of a "dictator" to preside over athletics next year.

Members of the committee who may name the man to occupy the office of "commissioner," or recommend his appointment at the conference, are Earl J. Miller, of U. C. L. A.; William Owens, Stanford; C. V. Ruzek, Oregon State; Charles M. Washington; E. J. Miller of Montana, and Hugh Willets of U. S. C., president of the conference.

First contract announcement of the meeting came from Graduate Manager Earl Foster of W. S. C., who said Orin ("Babe") Hollingberry had affixed his signature to a new three-year agreement, running through Feb. 1, 1940. Hollingberry has been head coach at W. S. C. since 1925.

Two changes in the football rules for 1938 were proposed at the conference's opening session, one covering lateral passing and the other kicking of points after touchdown. The coaches recommended:

1. That a "forward" lateral pass count as an incomplete forward pass with a five-yard penalty. At present the ball is returned to the point of play without loss of yardage.

2. That a blocked conversion kick automatically render the ball "dead." During the past season touchdowns have been converted when the offensive team scooped up a blocked kick and ran the ball over the goal.

Football schedules for 1938, adopted last year, were revised and brought up to date:

DELAY SELECTION OF REFEREE IN DISPUTE

Assistant Chief Inspector Bill Smith, of the California state athletic commission today notified Promoter Sam Sampson of the Orange County Athletic club that the referee for tomorrow night's three-falls wrestling rematch between Monty La Due and "Wild Red" Berry would be named prior to the match—probably tomorrow.

Smith also informed Sampson that La Due's "Apache flip" recently was ruled legal by the commission and declared Referee Col. Ted Hopkins erred when he broke the hold last week.

An off-the-ropes leverage trick, the hold appears illegal, it was announced, but inasmuch as the ropes have been ruled as part of the ring use of ropes are fair. Flying tackles and other holds depend on the ropes, so if these are legal, the commission ruled, the Apache flip must go down as perfectly fair.

REMATCH THURSDAY

MONTY LA DUE and WILD RED BERRY three falls to a finish. Also Carlos Rodriguez vs. Black Panther; Sailor Olson vs. Pete DeCaro; Duke vs. Brien vs. Duke. The greatest wrestling on earth!

He's a junior at Winslow, Me., high school, where he has reform for two seasons at quarterback for the junior varsity. He is 15 years old, weighs 88 pounds, and stands four feet ten inches. His ambition is to be a regular on the team. Choice of college—Harvard, Yale or Brown.

NIGHT LEAGUE DELAYS VOTE

Suggesting the possibility of contest for the presidency held by Walter Wentz for the past three years, National Night Ball league managers last night voted to postpone the annual election of officers until their semi-annual meeting on February 3.

Another reason for the delay was the illness of John Wilcox, Santa Ana's veteran business manager, who has always a hand in inter-league politics.

Only routine business occupied the session at Garden Grove, the financial report showing the league with a bank balance of $142.65 after expenses of $406.99 had been paid by Secretary-Treasurer Lee McClelland.

McClelland's report showed that San Bernardino paid into the league treasury the most money last season, its 5 per cent amounting to $72.79. Anaheim was second with $72.36. Santa Ana, once the leader, dropped to $52.11, followed by Huntington Beach with $34.90, Orange with $21.41 and Westminster with $17.20.

The league received $52.87 from the San Bernardino-Anaheim series and $18.30 from the Huntington Beach-Anaheim series.

Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana, Orange and Westminster unofficially signified their intention of fielding teams next summer but San Bernardino was not represented. It is understood the Ponies will not return to the fold.

SEASON TOTAL $18,850; CITY CLEARS $1770

Grossing approximately $18,850 Santa Ana junior college's football squad smashed all all-time attendance and box-office records this year.

Eastern conference schools split evenly their receipts but the Dons' share will be enough to run into the upper brackets. The net sum (after the reduction of rental and expenses) probably will be about $9000. This will be ample to carry on all non-paying sports as well as any number of non-athletic activities within the junior college.

Likewise, the city of Santa Ana profited more handsomely than ever before. The city leases its stadium for 10 per cent; this year its income will approximate $1770 from eight home games.

Exact figures are not available because no report has been received from San Bernardino authorities as to the number of tickets sold in advance there for last Friday's "rematch" which drew a record throng to the Municipal Bowl. The "take" in Santa Ana was $3760, since 2000 tickets were dispatched to San Bernardino it is estimated that 1600 were sold at 50 cents each. This would swell the total receipts for the final contest to the neighborhood of $4500, a new Santa Ana and Eastern conference record.

Last year's receipts, which had been a record, aggregated $11,147. The Dons' share was $4793.91. The city's 10 per cent amounted to $694.78.

In the following table it will be noted that only one of Santa Ana's home games grossed less than $1000. This was the Salinas contest. The Northern California conference team naturally brought few followers of its own to the Bowl.

Pasadena	$1037.70

INJURED KNEE WORRIES ACTOR

Although "The Trial of Mary Dugan" proceeded smoothly and most entertainingly for the capacity house gathered last night in Superior Court No. 2 at Orange county courthouse, the scenes "back stage" at this Community Play production, seemed a trifle disturbed.

For the director, Gladys Simpson Shafer, was faced with the possibility that one of the cast members, Crawford Nalle, playing the role of detective, was suffering from an infected knee that might incapacitate him for further duty. In the dilemma, Avery Johnson, who has appeared with the Players on earlier occasions, consented to take his attendance at last night's play, as opportunity to study the role, its lines and actions, and be prepared to step into action in case Nalle is unable to continue.

Today the physician's verdict on the injured knee, is more favorable and it is possible that Nalle may be able to continue in his part. Otherwise Johnson will step into his place. The incident is only an evidence of the team work and co-operation existing in all branches of the Community Players' association.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" will continue tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights, with ticket sales so brisk that each night's cast will play to a full house.

PHOENIX OFFICERS FACE GRAFT TRIAL

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Sheriff Roy Merrill, Justice of the Peace Harry Westfall, Deputy Sheriff Porter Northrup and 11 alleged gambling operators were held today for superior court trial on charges of conspiring to conduct gambling with "protection."

Superior Judge M. T. Phelps, who presided as a magistrate during a week-long preliminary hearing for the 14 men, bound them over to superior court and bonds remained the same as when charges originally were filed in Maricopa Co. as a result of County Atty. John Corbin's graft "purge."

Special Prosecutor Mark Wilmer said the group probably will be arraigned Dec. 20. Defense attorneys indicated they will seek separate trials. It was believed a judge from another county would conduct the trials.

PASSENGERS HURT IN BEACH MISHAP

Passengers in two cars involved in a head-on collision in the fog at Huntington Beach early today were injured when drivers escaped injury.

Ralph Ledi, Glendale, riding with George Fleutich, Pasadena, suffered face and ankle injuries. William Rouder, Los Angeles, face injuries. Mrs. Rouder was driving. The collision occurred at Ocean boulevard and 30th street.

Hazel Dawson, Balboa, avoiding collision with a car operated by Thomas Jefferson Corn, 816 South Main, late last night, ran her car into a tree in front of 1024 South Main but escaped injury. Corn was making left turn into 1017 South Main, police said.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 8.—Work on the construction of the $50,000 beach pavilion is expected to be started December 13 and plans for ground breaking ceremonies are being made. Brunzell and Jacobson, successful bidders on the project, have notified the city council that the company would be ready to go to work on that date.

SHOPPERS WITNESS MAN'S SUICIDE TRY

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—A man, identified by police as Juma E. Gazvini, an importer, hurled himself from the roof of the U. S. Grant hotel in the heart of the downtown district here today. He was rushed to a hospital where it was said he could not recover.

While hundreds of Christmas shoppers looked on horror-struck, Gazvini's body catapulted to the street and landed in a passing garbage truck. The victim's skull was crushed when it struck a large can.

L. C. Miller, a pedestrian, was struck by a car knocked from the truck and slightly injured. One of Gazvini's shoes was torn from his foot and thrown a distance of 15 feet. Gazvini was under charges of arson in connection with the burning of his palatial home at La Mesa recently.

Officer of the Day J. B. Wine was advanced to senior vice commander; Comrade John H. Hinckley was elected junior vice commander, the trio being elected without opposition.

Charles E. Hyatt and Charles F. Wood were nominated for position of officer of the day. Wood winning by one vote after a spirited contest. Moberly would have become commander, according to the camp's rotation rule. Appointive officers will be named by next meeting and stated committees at the second meeting in January.

Frank J. Frowles, Costa Mesa; John Lynn and Frank Scofield of Silver Acres, were taken in as new members, and Frank Earl, Orange, and Warren Baker, Easton, were elected to become members at some future meeting. The latter two are transfers from out of state camps.

Arrangements were made for a Christmas tree party to be held at the regular meeting place, Knights of Columbus hall, December 14, with Calumet auxiliary, joining in. LARKIN KILLERS TO DIE BY GAS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Five Folsom prison convicts were sentenced to die today for the murder of Warden Clarence A. Larkin as California invoked its new lethal gas death penalty for the first time.

Superior Judge Dal M. Lemmon of Sacramento spoke the words which started Wesley E. Eudy, Robert Lee Cannon, Albert Kessel, Fred Barnes and Ed Davis on their way to a new gas chamber nearing completion at San Quentin Prison. Because of the crowded courtroom, the defendants were seated in the jury box, each with an armed guard in the chair behind him.

Motion Denied
Judge Lemmon denied a joint motion for new trials instituted by attorneys for each of the defendants.

Then he asked the men individually if there was any reason why sentence should not be pronounced. Davis, almost deaf, could not hear what the judge asked him. A bailiff repeated the judge's question in his ear. He answered negatively.

Each of the five men was polled thus, answering "No." Then the judge said:

"It is therefore ordered that said defendant do suffer death, that a lethal gas be administered by the warden of San Quentin prison until defendant is dead."

The judge did not set the date for the execution.

Police were called when a clerk, Clayton Allen, became suspicious. According to police, Hendricks passed a $25 check at the Pinson department store in Orange. He is said to have admitted passing two checks in San Diego.

DEDICATION OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO BE HELD ON JAN. 30

Formal dedication of the new $75,000 First Presbyterian church at Fifth and Sycamore streets will be held the week of January 23 to 30.

This was the statement today of the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the church, following his announcement yesterday of the opening of the church next Sunday with a ceremony that will include the placing of the cornerstone.

Sealed Behind Stone
The service next Sunday, starting at 9:10 a.m., will start with a trumpet solo from the belfry of the church in a call to worship. A. H. Allen will then give to J. H. Rankin historical documents that will be placed in a copper box and sealed behind the cornerstone that will be cemented into place. Among the historical records to be sealed into the building will be a roll of the roster of the church that will include the names of more than 1400 members of the church, a list of the donors to the new building, a church directory of officials, and the names of the building committee.

Dr. Glenn W. Moore, executive secretary of the presbytery of Los Angeles, will perform the sealing ceremony.

To Unlock Doors
While G. Willard Bassett sings the sacred solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," M. E. Youel will formally unlock the doors of the church and present the key to the pastor.

The assembly then will enter the church where the first services in the new edifice will be held. Identical services, with the exception of the placing of the cornerstone, unlocking of the doors, and the congregation procession, will be conducted at 10:45 a.m. From 3 to 5 p.m. the church will be open to members and friends but will not be open for inspection to the general public, the Rev. Mr. McFarland said.

While all of the plans for the week of dedicatory services have not been completed, the Rev. Mr. McFarland today said that the new 28-stop Estey organ would be dedicated on the night of Jan. 23 at what will be called "church" night at which time ministers and musicians from the other churches of the community will be invited to inspect the organ and the various features of the church.

"Community Night"
Formal dedicatory services will be held Sunday, Jan. 30, when Dr. William Foukes, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, of Newark, N. J., will be in charge of the services.

On Friday, Jan. 28, "community night" services will be held with various organizations and city officials as speakers. Among the speakers will be T. E. Stephenson, county treasurer, who will represent the official bodies of the city and county, and R. B. Newcomb, president of the Kiwanis club, who will speak for the various service clubs of Santa Ana.

The church has been closed for more than eight months, the last service having been April 5.

WINS HIS FIGHT FOR CAR GRANT

Alex Morales Jr., of Anaheim, yesterday won his fight with the state motor vehicle department, to compel issuance of a driving license that had been refused him, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel issuing a writ of mandate against Ray Ineals, head of the motor vehicle department, ordering the license issued to Morales.

Morales' license originally was suspended, on the ground that he was an habitual violator of traffic laws. A hearing had been conducted on the matter by a local board, before the license was suspended.

Identity Confused
Morales subsequently contended that his identity had been confused with that of his father, Alex Morales sr., and notice of hearing had not reached him. He succeeded in winning a court order reinstating his license.

However, his license had then expired, and when he applied for a new one, the department refused it. He went to court again, and yesterday won the writ ordering that a license be given him.

COORDINATOR WILL GET $150 MONTHLY

The county probation committee has a juvenile coordinator in prospect, at a salary of about $150 per month, and the supervisors should pass a resolution authorizing the coordinator program, so it can get started, Supervisor Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, advised the supervisors yesterday.

Riley stated that the probation department was arranging to provide office space and clerical help for the coordinator. The $3000 appropriation in the budget for the coordinator salary and expense, will more than cover the program for the rest of the fiscal year, said Riley, even allowing the $250 per month schedule originally planned.

The probation committee recently was refused approval by the supervisors for their proposal to appoint Dr. Edward L. Russell. The matter of the resolution yesterday was held over, to determine whether such a resolution has been passed.

Young CCC Aide Held In Inquiry

Sought since September 25, in connection with alleged issuance of fictitious checks here, Earl Byrum, 21, CCC worker, was in custody today at Montebello where he was captured.

HOWARD ISSUES YULE WARNING

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard issued a warning today to all citizens to beware of fraudulent salesmen, "especially during the holiday season."

"People are inclined to become careless during the holiday season due to the friendly and merry spirit of the period," the chief said. "Therefore, they are more susceptible to frauds and rackets. I hope all, especially business men, will be alert for worthless checks."

"Another common practice during this season," he continued, "is for rug and silk salesmen to get busy, selling cheap material at low price, claiming it is highly valuable, or selling smuggled goods."

Already there has been an unusual influx of such salesmen into the city and county, it was pointed out. One citizen recently purchased a rug, appraised at $10, for approximately five times that figure, when a "slicker artist" appeared on the scene.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8. — Personal Observations: George Raft's habit of flexing his fingers reminds me of a contented tomcat "making bread." If there is a highly seasoned dish on the luncheon menu, Constance Bennett invariably orders it. Jean Hersholt is the only non-English foreigner in pictures who never "talks with his hands." Julie Haydon has a provocative habit of leaving her sentences half finished and her thoughts hanging in mid-air. Wonder if Dick Powell's too-frequent use of he-man expressions is designed to off-set his love songs?

Lily Pons always perches on the edge of a chair like a bird ready to fly. Odd that Franchot Tone, with the tastes of an Epicurean, should have the thin lips of an ascetic monk. No matter how good a joke you tell, Binnie Barnes always has one to top it. Peter Lorre invariably shuffles into step.

Away from the cameras, Marlene Dietrich's famous languorous expression too often becomes a sullen frown. Adolphe Menjou is a confirmed moustache - stroker. Claudette Colbert not only remembers the name of every casual acquaintance, but takes every opportunity to use it when talking with him. Fred Astaire is a table-top drummer—forever beating a rhythmic tattoo with his finger tips. When Grace Moore enters a cafe, she pauses in the doorway long enough to make the entrance dramatic.

Today, in a studio cafe, Walter Huston was holding forth on the power of vanity, and offered to demonstrate his point. At a nearby table sat a star who likes to pose as a connoisseur of art. Huston sauntered over to her table. "Did you know?" he asked, "that there is an exhibition of Crovan's water colors in the Museum this week?" The lady rose to the bait with a rush and a gush. "Crovan?" she exclaimed. "Oh, I adore his work!" Huston, beaming, returned to his seat. "Who, I whispered, 'is Crovanay?' "Now you've got me," grinned Walter. "I made the name up—and she is too vain to confess that she never heard of such a man."

The least publicized of Hollywood's unsung heroes is the film editor. Outside of Filmmville, few people appreciate his importance or understand his work, and yet the excellence of every picture depends largely upon his skill. Motion pictures are shot without any reference to the story continuity. When production work is finished, the whole mess of film is dumped in the lap of an editor. His job is to fit those scenes together smoothly, and make the story move along at the proper rate of speed. Sometimes he cuts out entire sequences; sometimes he uses "cover" shots that were filmed at some idle whim of the director. He can ruin the best material ever shot; he can take poor material and blend it so skillfully that it becomes a smash hit. And might be interested to know that at least four-fifths of Hollywood's successful directors learned their business as film editors.

MARTIN'S SHIP IS U. S. BID IN SKY LANESCURTISS AND MRS. POWELSON HELD TO COURT

W. A. Curtiss, 56, and Mrs. Louise Powelson, 57, Hollywood oil promoters, were held to answer by Justice Kenneth Morrison late yesterday to superior court on grand theft charges, outgrowth of asserted sale of oil land leases to several Orange county widows.

Among those who testified that Curtiss and Mrs. Powelson, working together, approached them to urge purchase of Texas and New Mexico oil leases, some of whom did buy were Florence M. Risk, Tustin; Flora May Rice, R. D. Westcott, Ralph Gallinger, Catherine Woods and Fred R. Davenport, Olive. Davenport said he was urged to buy but did not do so.

Bond Is Reduced
Deputy District Atty. J. E. Walker and Robert Gardner handled the prosecution. They held that Curtiss and Mrs. Powelson sold the witnesses allegedly bogus leases.

"These witnesses apparently were still satisfied with their leases until they heard others testify today," argued Atty. J. H. Brown for Curtiss. "Therefore, the only actual reason he is charged with grand theft now is, he got hold of some firewater and got himself arrested in San Clemente on a drunk driving charge. Then one of the complaining witnesses read the newspaper and he was charged with grand theft."

Ogle Argues Case
Curtiss was ordered into superior court, department 2, December 17, at 10 a. m., where information will be filed. His bond was reduced from $10,000 to $2,500 by Justice Morrison.

Meanwhile, he must appear in San Clemente city court before Judge Fred Warner Friday at 10 a. m. to face trial on a drunk driving charge.

Joel Ogle, attorney for Mrs. Powelson, agreed that she might be held as material witness, but argued she was not guilty of grand theft as she merely was a wage worker for Curtiss.

Dairy Men Name Ritner 1938 Chief

Election of Elmer Ritner, of Tustin, as chairman of the dairy department of the Orange County Farm Bureau took place at this week's department meeting.

E. A. Wakeham, of Garden Grove, who is dairy department chairman for the state farm bureau, was elected vice-president of the local group. J. J. Denni, of Cypress, was chosen director for Region No. 1 of the state organization.

1300 Cows Tested
Satisfactory progress in com testing was shown in a review of the past year's work. Approximately 1300 cows are being tested monthly in the county, for butter-fat content in their milk. In 1936 Orange county led the nation in average butter-fat content for cows on test, and was second in milk production per cow.

Increasing efforts are being made to make Orange county a federal accredited area in the T. B. test. It is expected that this goal will be reached next year.

To Join Select Group
Directors of the dairy department have lent their support to the task of not only improving herds in the county but also of preventing importation of diseased cattle from outside.

Most of the herds within the county are already clean herds, and when a few isolated herds are certificated, Orange county will join a select group in the nation, it was stated. Federal and state funds are available for assistance in T. B. eradication.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP PLANS SHAPING

Plans for the Mid-Winter Camp at Osceola, the Orange county Y. M. C. A. camp in the San Bernardino Mountains, today were nearing completion under the guidance of a special committee made up of Robert Scott, Edward Budd and John Henderson, with Boys Secretary Herbert Thomas as advisor, officials announced this morning.

This is to be a three-day camp for Hi-Y boys, on December 27, 28, 29. The details of the program are not altogether settled, depending on the weather, but it is expected that some winter sports will be possible, "and in any case there will be enjoyable activities for the boys."

Osceola is to be in use for several days this month, the boys of Fullerton Y. M. C. A. opening it for a period, followed by Santa Ana, and then by the Orange and Anaheim groups. The cost for the Santa Ana group will be about $2 per boy, and reservations should be made at once to Thomas at the Y. M. C. A.

A motorist can operate and release a hydraulic bumper jack without even stooping. The jack has a capacity of one and one-half tons.

TOASTMASTERS OF COUNTY IN WAR ON CRIME

Toastmasters of Orange county, members of the Toastmasters International, have joined the war on crime.

In the December issue of The Toastmaster, magazine published by the International organization, the plan to enlist the entire membership of the organization in a program of study and speech on crime was outlined. It is proposed to unite the 3000 members of the organization in a campaign of propaganda to help federal, state and city law enforcement officers in the war to curb crime which takes an annual toll of millions of dollars and lives from the nation.

Hoover To Co-operate
The program was presented to J. Edgar Hoover, U. S. Department of Justice, who said in a letter to the magazine:

"I am pleased indeed to learn of the interest of your organization in this matter, for I feel that only by arousing the public to the facts of the situation will any real progress be made in improving existing conditions. I sincerely appreciate your kind offer to cooperate in the campaign to eradicate crime in this country."

In another department of the magazine mention is made of a book "How to Develop Personal Power", by Dick Carlson, who taught a class in salesmanship at the Y. M. C. A. 10 years ago. Carlson today is director of personnel of the Farm Credit administration at Washington, D. C.

Two Santa Ana artists, Dave Sheppard and Jack Gardner, are responsible for the art work in this issue of the magazine. Sheppard is responsible for the cover design, an original linoleum cut. Gardner, formerly with the Register, drew the page cartoon on word origins.

CLUB MEMBERS JOIN IN TALKS

Calling on members of the Santa Ana Rotary club who were Rotarians in other cities before joining the local organization, program chairman Mac O. Robbins yesterday invited important opinions on Rotary principles from the members in a "skelton" meeting at the Masonic temple.

Because more than one third of the club roster attended the football luncheon sponsored by the Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary clubs for the three championship football teams of Santa Ana it was thought that no program would be needed, but as the members signified their intention of attending, a "member" program was planned.

Opportunity Cited
First speaker called upon by Robbins was Guy J. Gilbert, formerly of the Fort Wayne, Ind., club and past president of the local club.

Paul Watt, visiting Rotarian from Seattle, who has been a member of Rotary for 28 years, spoke of the good fortune of the local members in belonging to a comparatively small club in which members could become more closely associated. Watt also discussed briefly the labor situation in the city of Seattle.

Others who made remarks were Ralph Smedley, formerly in Monmouth, Ill.; Wesley Taylor, in Hastings, Neb.; Fred Marker, past president of Ventura Rotary; Clarence Holles, past president of Bucyrus, Ohio; Milton Poppet, in San Bernardino; Chester I. McDonald, in East Los Angeles; Chester Warren, in Kingman, Ariz.; and Frank Henderson, charter member of the Orange club.

Ocean Of Difference In Liners Of Future

The ocean liner of the next decade, the U. S. Maritime Commission believes, will be a huge air transport capable of making the crossing in one-sixth the time required by the fastest ship. That is why the commission recommends the construction of 59-ton, 50-passenger planes, like that now under construction at the Glenn Martin plant in Baltimore, and shown above in the artist's visualization, to augment the merchant marine.

APPRAISAL OF SAN JUAN HOT SPRINGS AREA NOW UNDER WAY

An appraisal of the value of the San Juan Hot Springs tract must be made before Representative Sheppard introduces a bill to provide for its acquisition by the federal government, it was learned by The Register today.

It was originally proposed by Sheppard to introduce two bills, one to provide outright purchase and the other to make possible exchange of public domain for the Hot Springs.

Proposal Abandoned
Information recently supplied to Sheppard that the owners of the San Juan property were unwilling to exchange public domain for the Hot Springs led to the abandonment of this proposal.

Sheppard will now center his action, it was learned at his office, to passage of a bill providing outright purchase of the property by the forest service for addition to the Cleveland National Forest.

To Set Exact Value
At the present time, according to Sheppard's office, a valuation of the property is being made, and as soon as the value is set the bill will be introduced. The value of the property must be known in order that an appropriation of the proper amount may be secured.

Store Slightly Damaged By Fire

A fire which was started from unknown origin but possibly, according to firemen, from a carelessly tossed match or cigarette, resulted in but $5 or $6 loss at the rear of the Safeway store, Fourth and Ross streets, yesterday at 3:15 p. m.

The fire started among sacks, stored at the rear of the place, Assistant Chief John Garthe said. All departments arrived at the scene within four or five minutes of the alarm.

The valve springs can be tested with a meter without removing the engine head of your car. Pressure is shown in pound units on a direct reading scale.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Young Couple Married At Quiet Afternoon Ceremony

Already pleasantly established at 110 North Birch street, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Thompson are receiving good wishes of a host of friends upon their marriage, a quiet event of Saturday, December 4, in Broadway and Walnut Church of Christ.

Mrs. Thompson was Miss Willa Dean ("Billie") Dedmon of this city, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Dedmon, of Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Thompson is a son of the B. L. Thompson, 622 East Walnut street. Theirs was a quiet wedding, with a dozen or more relatives and close friends gathered for the mid-afternoon service read by James Sewell, pastor of the church.

The bride wore a smart gabardine frock in navy blue with matching coat in three-quarter length. Her slippers were in the same shade, accented by hat, gloves and hose in gray. A cluster of gardenias completed her smart appearance. Mrs. Sadie Underwood as matron of honor, wore a tailored suit in Wallis blue with navy blue dress accessories and a corsage cluster of roses. Bert L. Thompson served as his son's best man.

Following the exchange of vows, the new Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were complimented at the reception in the Leroy Craig home, 607 East Pine street.

Mr. Thompson who entered high school from Frances Willard Junior High, is with Williams and Kleintz. His bride is with Bee's Beauty Box. She attended David Lipscomb College at Nashville prior to coming to this city some four years ago.

Decorations and program details of a meeting of Ebells First Travel section Monday afternoon were in keeping with an attractive Christmas motif. Mrs. George Perkins home, 2415 Riverside Drive, was scene of the affair.

Placed against a background of silver flowers and leaves were reindeer figures in the center of the luncheon table, which was lighted with red tapers in silver holders. Amusing favors were at each place.

Exchange of gifts was a feature of the afternoon. It was reported that several members of the section have been ill, and members voted to remember Mrs. E. B. Smith with a cluster of Holly which Mrs. M. F. Heathman will provide.

Present were Mesdames George Smith, William Smart, M. F. Heathman, George Perkins, H. P. Davies, H. B. Hill and Lincoln Carden.

March Wedding Date Selected By Local Pair

Parties Sunday and Monday evenings in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burr K. Stoker, 1529 West Fourth street served to acquaint guests with wedding plans of Miss Lucille Virginia Stoker and John Herbert Birt, son of the Herbert Birts, 2210 Maple street. The young couple will exchange vows March 6, 1938.

Relatives were brought together for the first event. Guests were seated at a damask-spread table centered with an old-fashioned cake plate bearing a lilies of the valley adorned the confection, whose frosting was inscribed with the names of the engaged pair, together with the date chosen for the nuptials.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Burr K. Stoker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birt, Miss Tossie Stoker, Miss Billie Stoker, Maurice Birt, and the betrothed pair, Miss Lucille Virginia Stoker and John Herbert Birt, with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Birt as sons, Tommy, of Huntington Park, Mrs. Combs and Miss Sylvia Combs, Los Angeles.

Holiday Motif
Monday night's party brought together a group of close friends of the bride-elect. The game of cootie yielded prizes for Mrs. Edw. Bradley, Miss Irene Wyckoff and Miss Gladys Field, who held the two highest and low scores.

Miss Stoker drew on the coming holiday season for her decorative details. Favors were miniature Christmas trees with scrolls linking the names of the bride-elect and her fiancé. Tiny angel figures were from which rose tall tapers tied with silver wedding bells. Enhancing the setting were silver and white Christmas trees on each table. Heart-centered pecan and ice cream roll was served with cookies and fruit punch.

For the occasion, the engaged girl was attired in black velvet with lace, and wore an orchid sent by her fiancé. Mr. Birt provided lilies for Mrs. Stoker to wear with her black crepe and velvet frock; and chrysanthemums for Mrs. Birt to wear with green brocade crepe.

Guests were Mesdames Armand Faccou, Edward Bradley, William Sylvester, Richard Bradley, Corwin Frazee, Harry Fink, Wade Cook, and the Misses Ella Bernstein, Jean Harvey, Mollie Holzkecht, Vern McKay, Irene Wyckoff, Emma Belle Fowler, Maxine Strunk, Thelma Marks, Adele Pyatt, La Fay Morris, Gladys Piffeld, Tossie Stoker, Billie Stoker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birt, Mr. and Mrs. Burr K. Stoker, the engaged pair, Maurice Birt, Dick Cocking, with Miss Carolyn Hillis of Brentwood Heights and Miss Sylvia Combs of Los Angeles.

Both Miss Stoker and Mr. Birt are graduates of Santa Ana High school. The bride-to-be is a member of Occidental, and Mr. Birt is a member of DeMolay alumni. He is employed with Pacific Freight Lines, and is attending National Radio School in Los Angeles.

Dr. Margaret Baker gave a short talk on the history of Christmas, and the work of Orange County Tuberculosis association.

Opening the program, members of Santa Ana Legion Auxiliary's prize-winning quartet sang several light operatic selections. Directed by Miss Ruth Armstrong, the singers include Zara Kyrle, Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag and La Verne Van Wyk.

Playing a group of "cello selections, Miss Anna Mae Archer was accompanied by Miss Audrey Pieper. Mrs. Florence Newkirk of Fullerton played piano solos. Coming as a fitting climax to the entertainment were Christmas carols sung by the Auxiliary quartet.

The 80 members and guests enjoyed as a finale to other events of the afternoon, a delightful tea interval. Christmas berries in a silver bowl centered the dining room table, which was spread with an imported lace cloth. Red tapers were in silver candlesticks. Mrs. G. W. Olson and Mrs. Harold Gobar, president and vice-president of the hostess organization, poured tea.

On the committee for the day were Mesdames John Wood, H. D. Newkirk, E. W. Kersten, F. E. Coulter, John Ball, K. H. Sutherland, Harry Huffman, Kirt Parks.

Musical Tea Given in Johnston Home By Medical Auxiliary

Musical tea in the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnston in Anaheim yesterday afternoon came as an annual affair for members of Orange County Medical Auxiliary, who entertained a number of guests including representatives of various women's organizations of the county.

Mrs. Hiram Currey, chairman of the public relations committee, was in charge of arrangements for the event. There was a short business interval during which it was announced that $50 has been raised by the auxiliary through the sale of fruit cakes made by Mrs. D. C. Cowles of Fullerton.

State Safety Chairman Tells Woman's Part In Law Observance

"Stop to think—and you'll think to stop," was a slogan suggestion for motorists made yesterday by Mrs. Paxton Lytle of Los Angeles, safety chairman in California federation of Women's Clubs, when she addressed Santa Ana Woman's club at an interesting session in Veterans' hall.

In advance of introduction of the guest speaker, Mrs. R. A. McMahon conducted the customary business meeting of the club during which reports of the recent district convention in Long Beach were given by Mesdames L. E. Tarbox, F. A. Martin and James G. McCracken. Two December meetings were advanced until after the holidays, the annual husbands' party and the Garden section. Announcement was made of the Christmas program on December 14, with a decorated tree and exchange of small gifts. These will be limited to 15 cents value, but will be practical gifts instead of jokes. A further observance of the season will be made by philanthropy section, which will carry holiday cheer to elderly patients in Orange County General hospital following a plan introduced by Mrs. E. Waycott during her presidency.

Mrs. Lytle's introduction was the pleasant surprise planned by the hostess club. In her talk she pointed out that California is the first state to be served by a safety committee from the club federation and emphasized the work these women are doing without remuneration. She drew a parallel between reckless driving and the pace at which humanity is living, pointing out that such swift progress prevents the appreciation of what life's pathway has to offer.

One of the activities of the women's safety committee is to make uniform signals in the eleven western states. Another is to gain cooperation from large men's groups, including Masons and Elks, in sponsoring individual safety weeks so that such measures may be in effect each of the 52 weeks in the year instead of being centered in one "Safety Week" as at present.

In concluding her fine talk, Mrs. Lytle paid tribute to Judge James L. Allen for his wise enforcement of speed laws, stating that his fame is going far afield.

Santa Ana Woman's club was to be represented today at the county board meeting in Fullerton, by its president, Mrs. McMahon, Miss Linda Kroeker, Mrs. Tarbox and Mrs. Irving W. Breese.

NEWS FROM HONOLULU

From far-off Honolulu have come announcements to Santa Ana friends of the birth there on Monday, November 29, of a little son, Perry Don Wicke, to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wicke of that city.

Mrs. Wicke will be remembered as Miss Alla Neely of this city, one of the most prominent students of Santa Ana Junior college in her two years on the local campus. She and Mr. Wicke have lived in the Islands ever since their marriage, and have an older small son, Hal, to join in the general rejoicing over the new baby's arrival.

Foremost Woman Poet Of America is Subject for Program

"Edna St. Vincent Millay and Her Times" offered the Modern Poetry section review yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch analyzed this book by Elizabeth Atkins, for the section meeting with Mrs. Horace Scott, 2208 North Ross street.

Elizabeth Atkins is associate professor at University of Wisconsin, explained Mrs. Hatch, who stated that her book has been lauded by William Rose Benet as a source of detailed information regarding the great American poet and her contemporaries. "Beginning with Miss Millay's first published poem in 1912, the fundamental simplicity and clarity of her work has remained unchanged," declared Mrs. Hatch, who climaxed her account of details in the author's life by asking "Which is the true philosopher, poet, Jeffers, MacLeish or Millay?"

Poems winning first and second place in the Robert Browning contest, "The Review of American Poetry," (Mrs. Julia Cooley Alt-roech) "Feast Without Trumpets," (Anne Harley Avila) and the honorable mention award, "In the Deep Snow," (Anne Atwood) were read.

The next meeting of the section will be held in the clubhouse lounge with Mrs. Lillian Pritchett as hostess. Mrs. M. M. Lane assisted her daughter as hostess yesterday. Date nut pudding was served at the tea table.

Community's Musicians Give Evening Over To Yule Gayety

Gay as was the spirited rendering of "Jingle Bells" last night when Musical Arts club members gave themselves over to frivolity, it was no gayier than the jingle bells when Santa Claus himself made his appearance. The occasion was the club's annual Yule party, and Miss Edith Cornell had been privileged to entertain in the home of her sister, Mrs. Berenice Fletcher, 417 West Walnut street, where social and program committees joined in extending hospitality.

Although given over to sociability the evening had a few brief moments of business details of the president, Mrs. J. Leslie Steffen-son, in charge. Among other things, plans were announced for both the business luncheon Tuesday, December 21 at Danigers, and for a guest night program on Tuesday, January 11. This latter event will be staged in Clarence Gastlin's studio, 819 North Sycamore street, with Long Beach Musical Arts club members as guests. Mr. Gustlin revealed that a special guest artist would play, James Beall, noted Portland pianist who is concertizing in the Southland. It is possible also that there will be readings, as Mrs. Charles G. Nalle's cousin, Mrs. Constance Layman, now working for her master's degree at U.S.C., may be present.

Merriment held sway for the remainder of the evening after a merryment of musical beauty when Mrs. Benjamin Lively led in the singing of "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." Mrs. Harry Brackett introduced charades which she and Miss Ruth Armstrong had worked out. Groups were formed by matching Christmas seals, and it was difficult to say which charade was most amusing, although perhaps honors went to "The great show on earth" with its remarkable elephant and trained dog. An impromptu trial in which J. Leslie Steffenson was judge, prosecuting attorney and jury, and Miss Armstrong was defendant, ran close honors.

With the holiday mood so well established, entrance of Kris Kringle was to be expected. Mac Robbins, attired in Rankin's popular Santa Claus costume, distributed gifts and lollipops from a capacious pack, and these were enjoyed in the radiance from the lighted Christmas tree.

Miss Cornell had as her assistant hostesses, Mrs. Brackett, the Misses Armstrong, Leonora Tompkins, Virginia Johnston and Mildred Marchant, together with her sister Mrs. Fletcher, who served nuts and mints were served with gingerbread topped with whipped cream.

Miss Lindsay Receives Close Friends at Trousseau Tea

Hope chest treasures and trousseau dainties were displayed by Miss Marjorie Lindsay recently when she received a group of close friends for tea in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lauby, 315 East Seventeenth street.

The marriage of Miss Lindsay and Weston Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, 1920 Victoria Drive, will take place Thursday, December 16. The past few weeks have been filled with interesting parties for the bride-elect, who also displayed her shower gifts with the trousseau articles.

Tea was served informally from a coffee table in the living room.

Miss Lindsay's guests included her cousin, Miss Catherine McKinley of Belleville, Ill., who will be one of the bridesmaids; the Misses Marian Hawk, Janet Diehl, Ruth Warner, Jane Crawford, Martha Tuthill, Mary Tuthill; Mesdames Floyd Blower and Robert Wimbush.

BALBOA ISLAND HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Geoghegan Jr., whose marriage was a brilliant event of Tuesday, November 16, now are at home to their friends in a charming home on Balboa Island at 222 Agate street.

The Geoghegans will have as a houseguest tonight, Miss Karen Cooper of Beverly Hills, who was here for the party this afternoon.

Holiday Party Attracts Many Junior Ebells

The calendar jumped ahead to Christmas time last night for Junior Ebells society members, who assembled 100 strong in Ebells clubhouse for a monthly meeting which was given over to a dessert bridge event of holiday appointments.

Coming events of late December and early January were suggested during announcements of a business session. Wednesday afternoon, December 29, at 3 o'clock will bring the annual holiday party for children of Junior and Senior Ebells society members. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Fred Ber-law, general chairman of the affair, telephone 158. Miss Helen Tietjen will arrange a gayly decorated Christmas tree laden with gifts; Mrs. L. C. Davison will be in charge of refreshments; Mrs. William Fritcher, entertainment.

One of the enjoyable features of the presidential reign of Mrs. Frank Curran Jr. (Nan Mead) was a dinner which new members of the society put on for old members. This custom will be revived in 1938, when the society's meeting January 4 will be highlighted by this feature. Mrs. Jack Hanna, who will be general chairman of the dinner, was introduced last night. New members welcomed were Mrs. John Maxwell, Miss Mary Nau, Miss Marian Hawk and Mrs. Clyde Higgins.

Party Features
Last night's affair opened with the serving of dessert at small tables set up in the peacock room. A single poinsettia centered each table, with tallies designed as miniature Christmas packages adding a gay note to the scene. When these colorful bits of cardboard were collected at the close of play, it was found that the three highest scores had been made by Mrs. Jack Hanna, Mrs. Fenton Dean and Mrs. Alvin Stauffer. Prizes wrapped in green and gold were presented the winners by Mrs. Don Harwood.

Mrs. Walter Bacon and members of her social committee were in charge of arrangements for the party. Mrs. Don Plumb supervised refreshments; Mrs. Bruce Anderson, table decorations; Mrs. Harwood, prizes.

COUNCIL DELAYS ACTION ON CITY REQUISITION PROPOSAL

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—A resolution drastically changing the requisition system for city purchases, giving the city clerk authority to distribute the city's business among local firms, was tabled by the city council last night, pending further action. The resolution won the unofficial favor of the four councilmen, but met vigorous opposition from Mayor A. C. Boice.

Introduced by Councilman Kellar Watson, Jr., the measure was intended to prevent and unintentional discrimination against local business firms of the city in making purchases. Watson said some firms have been discriminated against because department heads made purchases individually and without knowledge of purchases in other departments.

Under the terms of the resolution, the city clerk would be furnished with a complete list of firms with which the city has occasion to do business. It would be the duty of the clerk to see that each firm got its share of the city's business.

Mayor Boice strongly opposed the measure because he said it would give too much power to the city clerk. Councilman Watson replied that the clerk could do nothing without permission of the council, and that the clerk's main job would be to keep a record of the purchases so that no discrimination could be made.

August Wolf, who said he had lived in Orange for about two months, appeared before the council to determine the sentiment of councilmen toward establishment of a modern cocktail lounge in this city. Mayor Boice told him that "80 per cent of the people of Orange will be against you. This has always been a dry town and I, personally, would not favor it." Other councilmen expressed the opinion that they could see no harm in a cocktail lounge as long as it remained respectable. The council took no official action.

Indications that the 1938 Armistice day celebration would be held in Orange were seen when George Franzen, representing the Orange post of the American Legion, appeared before the council to ask permission to hold the celebration here. The council gave permission.

Action on bids for city liability insurance now under consideration by a committee headed by Councilman Henry Bandick were postponed.

Because the motors at the city water department are overloaded, the council approved a motion introduced by Councilman C. M. Carlson to purchase a new and larger motor at a cost of $1496. The sum of $375 will be allowed on a trade-in of an old motor.

The council voted to purchase an amplifying system for the baseball park from Kenneth Claypool at a cost of $2284. The set will permit the broadcasting of baseball games and the playing of records in addition.

Guild Told Of Church Meeting

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—The Rev. Myron C. Cole, pastor of the Orange Christian church, was speaker at the December meeting of the Bertha Epley guild of the Christian church Monday evening. Members gathered at the church parlor at 7:30 o'clock when Mrs. Ross Harlan, president of the group, conducted a business meeting.

Mrs. Ross Atherton, program chairman, introduced the speaker, who told of his experiences as a delegate to the national convention of Christian churches, held two months ago in Columbus, Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Cole also showed motion pictures taken during the interesting trip east.

The musical portion of the program was furnished by the Lyric trio, which is composed of Mesdames Ella Kogler, Jean Des Laizes and May Burkett. Mrs. Hazel Carr read inspirational devotionals and Mrs. Jennie Conner gave a five-minute talk on "Stewardship."

SPEAKER OUTLINES WORK OF Y. W. C. A.

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Miss Mary Howard, Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. secretary, spoke at the meeting of the "Y" board Monday night. She was introduced by Mrs. Percy Green, president. The important part played by the organization in character building was discussed by the speaker, as she told of the work in the International Settlement in New York City.

Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, executive secretary, told of the work of the various groups of Girl Reserves, and announced a party to be given for the Mexican children of the various groups of Girl Reserves January 18. Norma Craft is games' chairman.

All high school girls and their mothers are invited to attend Christmas vesper services, December 21 at 4 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Doris Howell will serve as program chairman of this service. Present were Mesdames E. R. Forbes, R. B. Newcom, Daisy Butler, Percy Green, Fred Wesley, Charles Robinson, Trafford Watson, A. W. Chastain, J. E. Heiser, J. D. Hayes and Miss Edna Bargsden.

It saves on all the extra busting of cooking at home. Dine in their homey cafe. Chicken served on Tuesdays and Saturdays for only 60c.

SCULLER'S, 312 N. Sycamore. For just one year, Mr. Sculler has been looking for just such scarfs as these. They're in SCULLER'S new gift shop. An addition to their store. Scarfs in a variety of colors in satins and silks. . . . up to $2.95. For only $1.00, they're the handsomest sheer wool scarfs that you'll find anywhere.

CHANDLER'S . . . Third . . . Main. Furniture is an ideal gift! There's nothing in the store at CHANDLER'S that is not a good gift. . . . even down to mattresses. After all, 1-3 of one's time is or should be spent in bed. . . . so when you rest, see that you rest comfortably. . . . in order that you may get up full of vigor to make more money and buy more mattresses.

Table lamps fill up those vacant spaces in a room. They make a house a home. Floor lamps finish a room as no other piece of furniture can. Buy the new indirect lighting lamps that flood the entire room with light. They're easy on the eyes.

If you haven't an ash tray stand, direct your eyes to CHANDLER'S windows. They've one window devoted to them. . . . at prices to meet your pocketbook. Interesting to see even if you're not buying one at this time.

Tables . . . whether it be a table in front of the sofa (coffee table), a magazine rack and radio table, or a table for vases and a table lamp. . . . they're a beautiful array of them at CHANDLER'S. Walnuts, mahogonies and maples . . . oblong, square and round . . . with or without glass tops.

CHURCH MEMBERS IN YULE AFFAIR

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Nearly 80 members of the congregation of Trinity Episcopal church gathered in the parish hall Monday evening for a dinner, opening the Christmas season for the church members. Long tables were decorated with Christmas berries and red tapers, and large baskets of poinsettias formed the background for the jolly affair.

Mrs. Francis E. Smith, president of the Women's guild, who sponsored last night's affair was toastmistress. Mrs. Smith led the group in singing carols after the dinner. One of the traditions songs, "Holy Night," was sung by the children present.

The Rev. J. Alvin Shirley, former Orange rector, spoke briefly then introduced Walter David, reader. Mr. David read his interpretation of the story of the birth of Christ. He also gave two readings for the children of the group. As a request number he read a humorous treatise on "The Art of Pulpit Oratory."

Our Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

PARENTAL ATTITUDES

What a parent says, even what he does, is not as important to the growth and development of his child as the way he thinks about the matter. It is possible to say, "Good enough," in a tone that convinces the child that you think him a condemned failure. It is possible to praise virtue and cause a child to think that it is something shameful. The feeling behind the words does the talking. It is never possible to hide feelings from a child. It seeps from mind to mind. Its communication is electric and its force is dynamic. You can no more tell a child one thing while you feel or think another, and have him accept the word rather than the thought and the feeling, than you can sew thistles and reap figs.

Children take their habits from their parents' feelings, whims and actions, not from their words. Even in so simple a matter as eating, a parent's attitude—one he fondly thinks he hides from the child—speaks to silence his words, and the child follows copy. "See, I'm eating it. It's very good for you. Makes you grow." But son knows well that you hate the stuff and that you do NOT eat it to make yourself grow. In fact you don't eat it at all.

Attitudes or behavior, on religion, on relations with other people in business or socially, are known to the children although they may be cloaked in secrecy, smothered, hidden in every possible way. "Don't speak before the children." As if speech were necessary. The clearest expression of a thought may be the silent one; usually the silent one of feeling.

The father thinks I set him against him. I never in all my life said a single word to him. "Clara thinks she teaches the children to be religious because she makes them go to church every Sunday, but she is fooling herself. They know how she feels about it and they will stop going just as soon as they can manage it. She has taught them her unbelief, but she doesn't know it."

Children know. When you want to rear children successfully you must first like them. Love them, if possible, but like them you must, or you cannot teach them a thing. They close the doors against those whose feeling is not with them. They will take anything from the one they know likes them. Nothing from the one who dislikes them. And they will know.

After establishing communication with them through mutual liking, you have to make sure that you believe firmly in what you teach them. You cannot have reservations. Children do not need to be told of the faith that is in you. They feel it. They know it. What you would teach a child to be you must first be it yourself. What you are is what you teach.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1937, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW ROAD MAY OPEN UP GULF TO SPORTSMEN

Possibility that San Felipe on the Gulf of California, 135 miles south of the Mexican border and Mexico, may develop into a popular resort and fishing center for California motorists is seen in prospects of a highway between the two points.

An expedition of approximately ninety men in more than a score of cars recently covered the unimproved route. It included business and civic leaders of Imperial Valley, Southern California and Lower California, Mexico, headed by Estaban Flores Diaz, Secretary of State of the northern district, Lower California, and Manuel Guerra, chief of the State Department of Public Works. The caravan was arranged by the Mexican chamber of commerce.

A Federal appropriation from funds allocated for highways in Lower California will be requested to build the Mexico-to-Gulf Highway. A detailed survey of the route was made during the trip by Assistant Engineer H. F. Holley of the Automobile Club of Southern California. He has submitted a report to the Mexican group showing that the work would follow level country, be comparatively simple construction and cost approximately $350,000.

It was noted that California sportsmen and motorists will appreciate such a move in view of the excellent deep sea fishing opportunities in the gulf, especially for snappers, Mexican sea bass, and the natural bay and warm winter climate.

New Ford Appears Longer

The 1938 Ford, just appearing on the market, is produced this year in two lines, the standard 85 or 60-horsepower group, and the deluxe 85-horsepower model. Features of the new Ford are a sweeping style that makes the car appear longer, new radiator grille design, increased room in closed models, easier steering, and a safety night-driving device. Above is shown the deluxe tudor sedan.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT TO AID NEW HIGHWAY ALONG COAST

Increased tourist and commercial trade between California and Mexico looms as the result of an announcement that President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico has just pledged $1,120,000 for construction on the International Pacific Highway between Mexico City and the United States.

Official confirmation of the ex-va modern highway. When completed the new route will give Californians and the State's many visitors a new touring destination, and will increase Mexican trade with western United States. Together with the new paved connection opened last year between Laredo, Texas, and Mexico City it will make possible a circle motor trip through a country of picturesque and changing scenery.

The new international highway is routed along the west coast of Mexico via Guadalajara with Nogales, Arizona, the northern terminus. Definite promise of Federal support assures construction to modern standards of the Mexican link in a highway which will eventually extend from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

A five-car Automobile Club of Southern California expedition first blazed a motor trail over the projected route in 1930. What was once considered an impossible barrier, the Barrancas, 25 miles of rugged mountains between the States of Nayarit and Jalisco, was conquered by the Club expedition and its original route has been selected for final construction of

CHRISTMAS TREE LANE IS ABLAZE

Alfadena's famous Christmas trees again will be illuminated this year, the Automobile Club of Southern California has been informed.

Santa Rosa avenue has been officially designated as "The Mile of Christmas Trees," a new name. Lights will be turned on at 5:30 p.m. on December 24 and every night thereafter up to and including January 1. Each night they will be turned off at 11 p.m.

BUICK SALES AT NEW HIGH FOR 10 YEARS

The first eleven months of 1937 have exceeded any entire year in Buick sales since 1927 in Southern California. This is the report of the Howard Automobile Company as the finals in November sales are being tabulated.

November Sales
The unhalting climb of sales since October, 1935, has taken Buick into first place in the actual number of units gained this year in the State, according to Harold W. Tuttle, general manager of the Howard organization.

November sales again crossed the 1000 mark in this section of the State, being the third month in 1937 to reach this high total. In five months, Howard records show, the total for each period was above 300.

Progressive Gains
With one exception last month was the biggest November in the history of the organization. The record was set last year with 1273, when the shipments were sufficient to meet the delivery demand.

"Every month, January to October, inclusive, has shown large gains over the corresponding period of last year," said Mr. Tuttle. From the factory comes information that national deliveries opened last month with a record for that period of the year. In ten days 6778 Buicks were delivered to customers. Production, meantime, was running at 1200 cars daily in an effort to overhaul the flood of orders.

FRIDAY 13TH IS LUCKY DAY FOR OLDS HEAD

If C. L. McCuen, president of the Oldsmobile division of General Motors has any superstitions, the one about Friday the thirteenth being unlucky probably is not among them. For it was on Friday, the thirteenth, late in 1935 that McCuen received his appointment as president of Oldsmobile.

Since that time, under his supervision, the company's production has been lifted from the 1935 total of 225,000 cars. Since he became president, a total of 670,000 Oldsmobiles have been built and sold. Their retail value, with accompanying accessories, runs to more than $871,000,000.

Production of 1938 models has already reached sizeable figures. Up to November 17th, no less than 36,222 of the newest series had been built, a figure far in advance of the number of 1937 models produced in a similar period last year.

In the period of Mr. McCuen's administration, no less than $21,000,000 has been spent by Oldsmobile in plant expansion and retooling for new models.

MARICOPA TO TAFT
A new road being built by the state between Maricopa and Taft is expected by the end of the year, the Automobile Club of Southern California is advised. Traffic is using the old road except for a short stretch near Maricopa where it is carried through construction.

CHAUFFEURS GET TIME EXTENSION

Expiration date of all chauffeurs' licenses issued in 1934 has been extended from December 31, 1937 to March 31, 1938. Paul Mason, chief of the division of driver's licenses of the Department of Motor Vehicles, informed the Automobile Club of Southern California. None of these licenses will be renewed at the latter date, he declared.

IMPROVEMENT DONE

Improvement of a short stretch from Bishop westerly to the Owens river on the highway to Nevada has been completed, the Automobile Club of Southern California reports.

EXECUTIVE OF CHEVROLET ON WESTERN TOUR

W. E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet division of General Motors Sales Corporation, arrived in Los Angeles recently from Detroit. He was welcomed by K. M. Chase, Pacific regional manager, and S. M. Johnson, Los Angeles zone manager for Chevrolet.

Mr. Holler is on the coast for a series of business meetings with Western officials of the company and Chevrolet dealers of the Southland. His visit brings forcibly to light a number of highly important preparations that have been made for 1938 by the sales department, such as advancement of the quality dealer program, and enlargement of training schools for members of the dealer sales and service staffs in order that they may render the best possible service to customers.

Following conclusion of the various business sessions in Los Angeles, Mr. Holler will continue to San Francisco and Oakland before returning east.

PARIS IN TRAFFIC JAM
Place de l'Opera in Paris lays claim to more motor vehicle traffic congestion than any other street intersection in the world, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California. Evidently the fifty million Frenchmen all get there at the same time.

BUILDING IN PROGRESS
Grading and paving will be under way up until late in January on a 2 1/2 mile section between the coast highway and Garfield avenue on the direct Buena Park-Huntington Beach route, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California. Traffic is being detoured over adjacent streets.

Special tread tires are being produced to increase traction, improve power.

BOX OFFICE FOOTBALL

Whether it be true that the boys on the University of Pittsburgh football team actually demanded spending money as a reward for participation in a post-season game is something for Pittsburgh to figure out. But if they did, the affair reflects discredit on American university authorities generally rather than on the boys themselves.

American universities have made football a professional sport. It is foolish to deny this, when gate receipts are counted by the hundred thousand and an athletic department is offered $50,000 for one "bowl" game. That sort of money simply isn't a part of amateur sport, and never will be.

If the boys who are drawing that kind of money through the gate decide that they would like a little of it themselves who can wonder at it? They may be confused about their status as students playing a game for the fun of it, but the confusion is entirely the fault of the university authorities who let the game get out of hand.

HOTHOUSE OPERA

A few years ago, in the depths of depression, there was a big campaign to "save grand opera" in New York. One and all were invited to contribute to a fund to keep this most expensive of musical ventures from collapse. One and all did contribute, and the Metropolitan was saved.

Comes now a news account of the opening of the current Metropolitan season. It has practically nothing to say about the excellence of the musical fare presented. Instead it is concerned mostly with the gaudy "society" crowd that was there; with Mrs. Vanderbilt and her grand entrance; with what was termed a "glittering assemblage of international society" which used the occasion as a chance for self-advertisement.

And this, clearly, is the sort of thing that keeps grand opera from paying its way in America. Until it is utterly divorced from its high-society atmosphere and presented for what it is, worthwhile entertainment, it will continue to be a hothouse growth which the man in the street will pass up in favor of the movies.

A GOOD OLD CUSTOM

The penny Christmas Seal this year depicts a jolly and colorful Town Crier. Garbed in his warm caped coat of blue and his three-cornered hat, he brings to mind one of the most popular and ancient characters of many lands—the man who went from house to house in the small towns and villages to warn of dangers, spread the news, and protect the households.

When sickness, danger or disaster threatened, the Town Crier did much to avert it. Now, 300 years after its heyday, it is fitting that the good old custom of the Town Crier should be recalled on this year's Christmas Seal, for these seals serve a purpose similar to that served by the Town Crier—they warn of danger, spread knowledge, and help to protect us.

Some day Christmas Seals may be relegated to that realm of almost forgotten "good old customs" along with the Town Crier who is so suitably pictured on the 1937 Christmas Seal.

But until that day it is our duty and our privilege to purchase them each Christmas season and thus aid in a small way the campaign that is being carried on throughout the nation.

SENSIBLE ADVICE

A dozen leading economists recently presented to the special session of congress a four-point formula for ending the slump in business activity.

The gist of it, according to press dispatches: "do something to encourage business." The four points included: Abolishment of the tax on undistributed profits; revision or abolishment of the tax on capital gains; ending of government competition with business; the bolstering of confidence by definitely indicating an intention to balance the budget as soon as practical and possible.

Among the economists were such recognized authorities as David Friday, Prof. Irving Fisher, Col. Leonard Ayres, B. M. Anderson and Paul Douglas.

In addition, members of the group advocated co-operation between labor and business on wages, prices and employment. All agreed with the statement of Mr. Friday when he said: "There is need of some definite, dramatic action to show that government promises of helping business are more than just a lot of talk."

Congress has been holding open season on business. Industry has been sniped at from all quarters. It has been reviled, denounced and saddled with an unprecedented weight of punitive laws. The inevitable results are seen today: worried investors, discouraged managements, retrenchment of capital, all culminating in a major business recession. Continuance of this trend must inevitably turn the recession into a depression.

The four actions the economists lists would go a long way toward bringing back lost confidence. They would, instantly, encourage the spending of money, the building of plants, the expansion of inventories, and the employment of men and women. Congress never did get better advice.

Risk In Capital

This is a series of illustrations consecutively running in this column through the courtesy of the J. Walter Thompson company, explaining in simple terms how capitalism affects the ordinary person.

Of course, there is no assurance that our cow won't get sick and die. She may be stolen by some good-for-nothing rustler.

That's the chance we take when we choose to save and invest our dollars rather than spend them. But some people prefer the risk. THAT'S WHY THE HERDS CONTINUE. That's why they increase at calving time.

But for the first time in our history for the past eight years capital has been decreasing.

FORTY CENTS AN HOUR

We admit we do not have enough ability to take a group of slow workers who are small producers, because of inexperience or age, or by nature lack dependability and aptitude, and employ them at 40 cents an hour and have them produce enough to stay in business as the American Federation of Labor proposes to enact into federal law.

Neither do we know of anyone else who ever employed anyone for any length of time who believes he can do it. We do not believe there is a single member of congress who could do it.

We never yet have seen it demonstrated.

Sure, we know there are many firms that never pay as low as 40 cents an hour. But they do not employ the real inefficient workers.

If the 40 cents an hour law is passed, it will mean more unemployment. Those who cannot produce 40 cents an hour will be idle and those who do work will receive less real wages because those who cannot find jobs at the price will have to be taken care of. They cannot be allowed to suffer when we make laws that require them to be paid more than they produce.

The self-appointed reformers who tell others to do what they cannot do themselves, say that all wages can be raised so that slow workers can earn their wages when paid at the same rate per unit of production the fast workers are paid. But this would run up the costs so that only those who had the most efficient machines could pay the increased wages. This would, thus, put more men out of work.

Yet, we are seriously considering passing such a foolish arbitrary law!

We evidently believe only what we desire. We are strangers to reality in economic laws—too much theoretical education and not enough practical experience.

CHARACTER BUILDING OF SPORTS

In a very interesting chapter written by the great French philosopher, Gustav LeBon, in his book, "The World Unbalanced," he makes the statement that the training received in the army is one of the best ways of building character in individuals. He quotes the famous German chemist Ostwald to the effect that "the industrial supremacy of the Germans was due to the fact that they possessed the secret of organization."

He says, "That superiority, results less from intellectual qualities acquired in the universities than from certain traits of character such as orderliness, discipline, punctuality, solidarity, devotion to duty, etc., which are not taught in universities. The objection that the Americans, until recently without an army, yet attained great industrial order, solidarity, punctuality and discipline were due, like those of the English, to the practice of sports where discipline is as rigorous as it is in barracks."

LeBon contends that much of the actions of people are due to moral instructions that become semi-automatic; that when people are properly trained, their decisions regarding society become almost automatic. Without proper training there can be no complicated co-operation, necessary in advance civilization.

The fact that LeBon gives such great credit to the character building qualities of sports in America, as compared with the lack of character building taught in the public schools and universities, is extremely interesting and there seems to be quite a lot of logic to his contentions.

Sports certainly do discipline those participating and those interested in the sports, even more than memorizing something, which seems to be made the paramount issue in the schools and universities.

MUSSOLINI'S MANEUVERS

Mussolini is not a reckless gambler. He is a cool calculator. He has based his policy on what he believes to have been the principles that guided British policy in the nineteenth century—the century of the Fashoda incident. And that policy will stop short of war, which would inevitably expose the weaknesses of Italy's position, her strategical vulnerability, her overtaxed resources.

This is not hypothesis. It is a proven fact. Whenever Mussolini meets with firm resistance—resistance so strong that he realizes that he cannot go further without plunging into troubles and perils—he invariably pulls out. In the Nyon Conference we had an example of such firm resistance and of the Italian recoil which followed it at once.

Let these factors be borne in mind when next the tension rises and the crisis depends in Anglo-Italian relations. War is an adventure which Mussolini, the supreme adventurer, will not embark on. It does not figure among his plans. It would be the defeat of the policy which, with consummate skill, he is operating.—London Chronicle.

General Hugh S.

JOHNSON Says

CHICAGO, Ill.—What is happening in Brazil looks exactly like what has happened in Italy, Germany and Russia. When political parties disband freedom of opinion goes to jail. There is to be one-man rule in the greatest South American Republic.

There has been a broad attempt to shift in the direction of one-man rule in this country. Just now it seems to have fallen on evil days. The Farm and Wages-and-Hours Bills may pass but the debate is doing a lot to reveal to the people what has been going on here. That is all that is necessary to stop that trend in this country.

The difference between nations whose governments came through developments from the civil law of Rome or other autocracies and those that stem back to Anglo-Saxon traditions of government, is that the former never did accomplish much in teaching people how to govern themselves. They have been used to dictators from the beginning of time and they are not used to anything else.

In Russia, before Stalin, there was the Czar. The only essential difference between government in Germany under Hitler and the Kaiser is the cut of the moustache of the All-Highest. Germany has always been goose-stepping and the people wouldn't know how to get along very well otherwise. They like to be bulldozed, regimented and verboten.

Mexico has tried every form of government known to man and has revolted against each. She tried to jimmy an American constitution under a structure of Latin law and her people never even suspected what it was all about. They did not know how to go about governing themselves. The only form of government that ever worked there was a kind of military oligarchy, not according to their constitution in spite of it. The present constitution fits better with the temper of her people.

The epidemic of revolutions against Spain in the Latin Republics followed ours but they were not popular uprisings to install democracy. The first Mexican revolution was intended to establish an empire and in Brazil an empire was established. "Liberty" really meant no more than "change the boss."

The dictatorship of Senor Trujillo in Santo Domingo is as absolute as the dictatorship of Mussolini in Italy and it isn't any of our business and won't be unless the various Spigot Simon Legrees begin to get ideas about tacking on to the "Rome-Berlin Axis"—which is possible but not probable.

These Latin countries are entitled to the form of government that works for them and the hard-boiled truth is that some kind of authoritarian rule is the only kind that gets results.

The situation in Mexico is slightly and queerly different. After all, Mexico is an Indian country tracking back to a kind of culture that was far advanced when Cortez came. There was a strong element of Communism in all Indian society and especially in Aztec forms of government. The idea of property in the soil and all that was in or under it was particularly one of common ownership. Private exploitation of oil and minerals never did set very well. You run into shadowy old throwbacks to Aztec and Toltec traditions and even gods and superstitions everywhere in Mexico. It is a mistake to attempt to judge any of those countries by Anglo-Saxon standards.

I think it is likewise a mistake to fear from those examples, that the little band of theoretical radicals who keep pressing on the President such astonishingly and most unbelievable dictatorial proposals as the Farm and Wages-and-Hours Bills will be able to get away with it much longer. It is possible that the best thing that could happen would be to pass them both "as is" and see what the embattled farmers and workers will do when these proposed twin Opus really begin to churn them up and down.

Editor, Register:

"Sharing the Comforts of Life" in the November 30 Register makes several erroneous statements about the Townsend Plan which in fairness should be corrected.

Error number 1: "Improve the condition of one group of people by taking from another and giving nothing in return."

The Townsend Plan takes 2 cents from each dollar transaction, not to "give" to any "group" but to accumulate a fund that will not only go to the pensioners but will immediately pass from them to everyone else who does any kind of business or services, which includes practically everybody and not any "group."

Instead of "giving nothing in return" the Townsend Plan will give what all the funny, fancy movements of all the expert financiers and economists in all past history have failed to give, immediate, continuous and permanent prosperity, abundant employment at decent wages instead of the present dole and welfare make-shifts that cost taxpayers almost unbearable burdens.

"In return" there will be happiness and contentment, good will and a chance to develop all the finer elements of human nature which have been and are stifled and crippled by the bungling economic, financial system which grips humanity, causing poverty, misery, suicides, crimes, with "one third of the people underfed, ill housed and poorly clothed," existing way below the decent standard of living which is the moral and legal right of every human being. "In return" we will have every day the blessings preached about on Sunday in the pulpits and forgotten during the week. "In return" we will have genuine, practical religion instead of a hoped for bliss after we die and go to heaven.

"Taking from one group of people" is not true of the Townsend Plan as it does not take anything from any "group" but instead enables every individual, rich or poor, to bear his just share of the cost of government operations in exactly the same proportion instead of enabling a few to escape by tax exempt.

Error number 2: "The Townsend Plan, by preventing people from working after a certain age"—"reducing the total amount of wealth" is another incorrect claim.

It is generally conceded that there are about eleven unemployed people who are kept alive by dole and welfare make-shifts that cost taxpayers a vast amount of money. People of 60 years and older have already contributed enough to the building and maintenance of America to be justly entitled to spend their remaining years in comfort without care or worry over finances. By the Townsend Plan the transactions tax money must be forced into the channels of business and it is most logical and right to have the old people attend to this and cease from all gainful occupations which will allow the unemployed to take their places, thus "killing two birds with one stone" and adding the wealth their work produces to the wealth produced by the vast amounts kept in circulation by the forced spending of all the pensioner's money, nullifies the claim you make in your paper that the Townsend Plan reduces the total amount of wealth.

So, instead of "reducing the total amount of wealth" the Townsend Plan will increase it, not by spurts of prosperity followed by periods of depression which has always been the result of the methods of the masters of finance, but by a steady, continuous and permanent result of the forced spending of securities and dishonest manipulations, juggling and secret schemes to dodge their rightful share of the cost of government now falling so heavily on the large majority of citizens.

In short, the Townsend Plan will enable everybody to enjoy a normal healthy, upright, decent, self-respecting existence instead of a few owning the bulk of the money and controlling the government and mismanaging affairs to the detriment of everyone but themselves, so that crimes and all sorts of social disorders increase and weaken the effort of humanitarians to improve the well being of their fellow men.

Error number 3: The Townsend Plan "does not add a particle to wealth—in fact will reduce the total amount of wealth."

Wealth is produced by transmuting the earth's natural resources, mineral, chemical, agricultural, forestry, etc., into consumable goods which must be purchased, necessitating buying power in the hands of the people before the goods can be used or consumed. Right here the Townsend Plan with its forced spending feature immediately establishes stabilized prosperity because of the tremendous demand of everybody for all kinds of necessities, conveniences and luxuries that have always been desired by everybody but denied to most people because of the restricted purchasing power that is and has been prevalent under the control of "vested interests" who

BOIL CLOTHING, BATHE, APPLY SULPHUR POWDERS TO CLEAN LICE FROM THE BODY

This is the concluding article in a series by Dr. Fishbein on body parasites and how they may be eliminated.

When lice begin to live around the body, particularly in the seams of underclothing, they are difficult to remove. In an ordinary search they are not likely to be found on the skin but rather concealed in the clothing and occasionally in the hairy regions. They get on the skin only when hungry.

Sometimes their presence can be detected by the fact that the hairy regions are contaminated by the eggs or nits of the body louse. On other occasions, puncture wounds which they produce are found on the skin surrounded by a slightly bloody area.

Just as soon as the parasite begins to bite, itching occurs. Then the areas are covered with scabs and crusts and there is also the possibility of secondary infection from scratching.

where the lice have been long inhabitants of the skin, discolorations may eventually occur. In fact, among the inhabitants of filoprophs, the presence of these organisms is so frequent that they occasionally attack in such numbers as to produce serious disorders of the skin, called "Vagabond's disease."

Chief danger of such infestation is the possibility of the development of abscesses and boils which when greatly infected may even produce death. Body lice usually bite around the neck, shoulders and buttocks.

In riding the body of these parasites, it is necessary to boil all the clothing or to steam it to sterilization in high pressure steam sterilizers. The organisms on the body must be removed as well by giving hot soap baths and applying dusting powders containing sulphur.

Lice which live in the lower areas of the abdomen are seldom seen on children. They bite deeply and almost invariably produce little spots of blood and inflammation.

Sometimes their biting is associated with the appearance of discoloration with the appearance of discoloration due to the fact that the poisonous saliva of the parasite breaks up the red coloring matter of the blood and leaves it under the skin.

For the treatment of this type of infestation, it is customary to use strong ointments containing toxic drugs, which the physician prescribes. Sometimes the drugs used irritate the skin. They are however, necessary first to destroy the parasites. The irritations may then be overcome by the use of soothing ointments.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1937 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—These tax bill drafters in the house might as well be working in the cowshed of Santa Claus, writing their bill in invisible ink.

Every time the stock market sinks, they slip out a statement that they have voted another concession to business in the corporate tax. When pressure from business gets too warm, they promise to give out something before Christmas. At all other times they will not tell their best friends and colleagues what they are up to.

As this is no ordinary secrecy, the colleagues are beginning to suspect there is no ordinary reason for it. They are right.

The drafters are doing far more than has been supposed. They are working not only on the corporate and capital gains revision, but on complete revision of the entire tax structure. They have been figuring on a cut in gift taxes, (amounting to about $25,000,000), changes in gifts and inheritance taxes, and practically all others except income taxes. (They have not discussed broadening the base, but they will.)

This is another reason why a bill cannot be reported until January 15.

A bigger and better anti-monopoly drive is in the offing. Sentiment for it is being whipped up inside.

At the confidential gathering of New Deal economists, congressmen and labor representatives a few nights back, blame for the depression was officially placed on labor and monopolistic price control in many industries.

This official analysis jibes with what Bellwether Eccles, chairman of federal reserve recently said to the house banking committee. He complained that building costs were as high as when interest rates were 6 to 9 per cent; said monopolistic building material prices were now being broken by decreased volume of housing activity.

From these and other more obvious signs, it is evident the monopoly harp will be played louder from now on, (but not the labor either as that makes a harsh political sound.)

Vermont Governor Aiken's stormy demand for a purge of the Republican national committee whisked off no hats here, caused only a few smiles.

The trouble seemed to be no one knew Gov. Aiken, whose candidacy he was gunning for and against; or whether leadership for the reorganization should come from a state which is something less than pivotal. (These comments were heard among Republican legislators, but not near committee headquarters where all suggestions, even for reorganization of the committee itself, are now graciously received.)

The general inside interpretation was that Gov. Aiken was not unmindful of the fact that one president, Mr. Coolidge, hailed from Vermont, even though he first attained the office through the death of the elected president. Also general was the interpretation that the southern national committeemen whom Gov. Aiken wants to oust are mostly holdovers from the Hoover era of patronage.

Actually the party bigwigs consider southern committeemen as sort of inconsequential nuisances, would not mind kicking them out, but are afraid of raising a sectional row at a time when they are trying to get together on a program.

The Aiken affair will come to nothing, except possibly Gov. Aiken's candidacy for the senate against Gibson next year.

Sophisticated politicians hemmed when they heard Mr. Roosevelt cut short his Florida fishing trip to get dental attention from the navy here. A good navy dental station is located at Pensacola. A couple of dentists could have flown to the presidential fishing yacht in an hour and treated him without causing him to relinquish his fishing pole.

This, (and other developments) has stirred speculative gossip about the president's health or his real reason for returning. The other development is the appearance of too many protests from known White House friends that the house banking committee. A professional football halfback, if not absolutely musclebound with surplus strength.

About all there seems to be behind the gossip are these considerations: The president, with his unhealed cavity, did not feel up to his Georgia speaking engagements and thus developed a longing for Washington dentistry. He did not cut short his fishing, only his planned two days of public appearances. Those who see him constantly believe he has withstood the strain of office better than any modern president, except Coolidge; that he, like many another Washington statesman has lately been suffering minor ailments, due to heavy work and worry, changing seasons, etc.

Congressional gossip is generally on a par with the average sewing circle.

care little if anything about "general welfare," and who create booms and panics, with tremendous profits to themselves from both.

The enormous demands on production which the Townsend Plan will inaugurate will require the full time employment of every idle person at decent wages, thus curing the unemployment problem and doing away with the dole and welfare make-shifts, and for this reason reducing taxes now imposed for this part of the economic disease that will continue to increase till the Townsend Plan becomes the law of the land.

The Townsend Plan favors production to the utmost capacity of factories, farms, mines and forests, then selling the resulting products to everybody with their abundant purchasing power made possible by the continuous, forced spending feature of the Townsend plan, all paid for by the 2 per cent transactions tax.

This transactions tax which everybody pays in proportion to the volume of business they do will be less than the present tax load required to pay the cost of unnecessary charity, poor farms, welfare, dole, crime, shut down factories, idle workmen and all the other useless results of the impractical financial and economic system that is so lacking in benefits to human welfare

Every critic of the Townsend Plan has failed to give a practical, sensible reason for their objections.

The Townsend Plan is steadily gaining recognition and endorsement from more and more business people. It has been slow to reach final adoption because leaders in public affairs have been too busy listening to the propaganda voiced by money masters who want to continue their greedy control of everything.

But "Peace on earth and good will toward men" was not said without purpose. The Townsend Plan is the only economic system yet proposed that is in harmonious accord with that promise.

W. F. ROCKWELL.

From the standpoint of an engineer designing a large air transport, it has been shown economically worth while to spend as much as $3000 to gain one mile an hour in an experimental machine.
